Chinese Official Sees Big U.S.-Soviet War

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Chinese Defense Minister Yeh Chien-ying predicts a "big war" soon between the United States and the Soviet Union and says China "must race against time" to build up industry in the interior before it happens. In a speech in Peking on May 9 to a nationwide industrial conference, Yeh said the United States and the Soviet Union "are locked in an increasingly fierce struggle for hegemony" and "a war will break out some day."

"We must be clearly aware of this situation," Yeh continued, "keep war in mind and get prepared for it, for a big war that will break out at an early date. We must race against time and work as quickly as possible so that we can build industry in the interior well before the outbreak of war."

Party Chairman Hua Kuofeng echoed Yeh, saying, "We must definitely be ready for war. We cannot afford to let time slip through our fingers as it waits for no one. Accelerating development of our national economy at a rapid pace is a task which brooks no delay." The texts of the speeches were published today by Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency. Observers in Tokyo interpreted the talk of war as an attempt to impart a sense of urgency to plans to develop China into a major industrial power by the end of the century.

Mao Tse-Tung's industrial-defense program called for the shift of industry from the densely populated east coast to the interior, but the program is believed to have lagged in recent years. Yeh, a 79-year-old associate of the late Premier Chou Enlai, said the transfer of industry "is not merely a question of industrial distribution; it is a question of strategy that affects the whole situation." "We must build the interior ... as fast as possible so that it can make greater contributions to the development of our national economy and our preparedness against war in peacetime and operate as our strategic rear base area in time of war."

He also stressed the need to "ceaselessly strengthen national defense capabilities" as long as American and Soviet imperialism exists. "Without powerful modern basic industries, we will not have enough modern arms and equipment, means of transportation and supply ... in a word, we will not be able to modernize our national defense," he said.

He dismissed the idea that communism is about to be realized in China, saying it is "something to be accomplished a hundred or several hundred years from now." In the meantime, he said, a long-term course has been charted to eliminate differences between town and country, worker and peasant, mental and manual labor which will ensure the transition to communism.

Laetrile Legalization Bill Filed In Senate

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state lawmaker introduced a bill legalizing Laetrile in Michigan as several users of the controversial cancer drug lauded its benefits.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. John

Weeks, said the bill would allow cancer patients to use the drug without a doctor's prescription. He said the bill would also allow patients to use the drug without a doctor's prescription.

Cancer Patients Back It

Welborn, R-Kalamazoo, said Thursday use of the drug is a "matter of freedom of choice." His measure would legalize Laetrile only with a doctor's prescription.

Laetrile users crowded into a conference to speak glowingly of the drug's effects, saying it has helped them recover from serious cases of cancer and resume normal lives. But they stressed they believe it is only useful as part of a diet-drug-exercise program.

Laetrile, a compound found in apricot and peach pits and in bitter almonds, has been labeled by medical experts as useless in combating cancer. The federal Food and Drug Administration has banned interstate commerce of Laetrile, but has been ordered to hold hearings on the 14-year-old prohibition.

Three states, Alaska, Florida and Indiana, have already approved its use. Cancer victims around the country are pushing for legalization. Most have had to go to Mexico for treatment, or use Laetrile smuggled into the country.

"I think it is wrong when we force cancer victims to violate an administrative ruling by the FDA in order to have their freedom of choice in treatment," Welborn said. He argued Laetrile is less toxic than aspirin or sugar, and argued the FDA's ban has only driven up its price.

Welborn said his bill requires a prescription "so that a cancer patient will be receiving competent medical supervision." Physicians have objected to the legalization of Laetrile for fear that cancer victims will turn to it first, ignoring treatments which could save them in the disease's early stages.

Several dozen Laetrile users and supporters who jammed Welborn's news conference wore red-and-white buttons declaring "Legalize Laetrile Now!" and applauded testimonials of its effectiveness.

"My own daughter says 'quackery,' my personal doctor says 'quackery,' so I had to inject myself," said Charles Humpley of Edwardsburg, who claimed Laetrile had controlled his cancer. "I'll live or die by this treatment."

"It's just one arm of the treatment," said Virginia Crawford, a nurse from Dearborn who uses Laetrile. "You have to change your way of living and change your way of eating. I can tell you Laetrile works. It's a cancer-control food supplement."

Dotty Marks of Constantine, who lost both breasts to cancer, said Laetrile has since controlled her disease. "Today, I have no pain," she said, adding she just finished a round of golf.

Present jail is 60,000 square feet. New construction would add 70,000 square feet. Cost is estimated at $6.5 million. Jail would continue to house sheriff's department. (Staff photo)

Milliken Nixes Farrah Photos

KALKASKA, Mich. (AP) — A revealing picture of Farrah Fawcett-Majors caused political problems for Gov. William Milliken.

Milliken, on a 14-city tour of the northern Lower Peninsula, visited a toy factory Thursday and was presented with some paint-by-the-numbers kits to take on his visit to the schoolhouse.

Some of them featured posters of horses. No problem.

Some of them featured Ms. Fawcett-Majors. Big problems.

George Weeks, administrative aide to Milliken, was among the first to note the pictures in the kits given to the 42 students representing kindergarten through the eighth grade.

He expressed concern as to what effect it would have on the governor's image if it became known he was passing out the Farrah art.

The picture in question was not the one showing her in a red bathing suit, a reproduction which brought her national attention. Instead it showed her in a clinging white dress outlining her breasts.

Weeks said the governor took a good look at the picture, then said, "I certainly don't want to present those." Weeks added, "The governor did not think it was an appropriate thing for him to give."

After a high level conference of the Milliken traveling party, it was decided the pictures of the horses were okay for the kids, but those of Miss Fawcett-Majors had to go.

As the pictures of the actress were being retrieved from the little schoolroom, one of the teachers intervened.

Karen Buckel who teaches kindergarten through the fourth grade said she thought the posters would be okay for the kids. "Some of them have already bought their own," she said.

On Ms. Buckel's promise to check the whole matter out with the school board before putting Farrah in the hands of the kids — and presumably their fathers and older brothers — the pictures were returned to her.

Weeks said that was okay with him, so long as no one blamed the governor for the pictures.

Nixon TV Audience Is Smaller

NEW YORK (AP) — The latest televised interview of former President Richard M. Nixon, carried by independent stations, drew a much smaller audience in New York and Los Angeles than the first interview last week, the Arbitron Co. reported today.

An overnight meter sampling showed the interview dealing with foreign affairs, broadcast on WNEW-TV here Thursday night, drew a 20 per cent share of the audience, or about 829,000 television homes, Arbitron said.

The first interview, dealing with Watergate, drew a 42 per cent share here.

In Los Angeles, KTTV had a 25 per share Thursday night, or 581,000 homes, Arbitron said. That compares to 42 per cent for the first interview on KTTV.

"We're not building a jail, we're building a damn monstrosity" was the reaction of Berrien county Commissioner Kenneth Wendzel as plans for a $6.5 million addition to the county jail were unveiled yesterday.

Commissioners met in informal session to hear a presentation by Lansing Architect Clark Ackley on the final draft of the proposed jail addition, which is part of a state-ordered program to update facilities.

The additions include construction of a third floor over the present jail and the addition of two new wings, also three stories tall, extending off the present structure towards Wayne street in St. Joseph.

Commissioners voiced agreement that expansion was necessary to alleviate crowding in the present 25-year-old facility. But board members also expressed frustration about funding for the additions.

"I don't know how we can ever come up with the money," declared Board Chairman Nancy Clark. "We figured that if all the departments pulled in their belts we could come up with about $5 million over three years, but...."

When it was proposed that extra millage be levied to cover the cost, Commissioner Lad Stacey said flatly: "It can't be done." Commissioner Ernest Chase added: "To come up with $6 or $7 million is entirely prohibitive. I don't think you could sell such a bond issue to the people."

The county earlier this year was denied a $5 million federal public works grant for jail expansion. Commissioner Otto Grau, whose committee is in charge of the jail, said a federal grant won't be sought again because federal guidelines are more restrictive than state and would result in higher costs.

Grau also said no state money will be available for construction and asked for public reaction and any possible suggestions.

Sheriff Forrest (Nick) Jewell reported the daily inmate average last year at the jail was 211, and sometimes went as high as 291. The capacity of the jail is 200.

The new jail, including the present facility and the additions, would house 230 inmates as presented, and could lodge as many as 300 if space on the third floor of a new wing was completed. The plans presented yesterday left that portion unfinished, since completing that portion would add another $800,000 to the $6.5 million cost. Ackley estimated the additions would take two years to complete.

The county was ordered to bring the jail up to new standards by the state Department of Corrections about three years ago, Grau noted. He said the county has been stalling for time, but the state has been applying pressure to get the renovations done immediately.

"We're trying to meet the code," Grau said of the proposed jail. "We're afraid someday the state will come in and tell us we can't use the jail."

He added that if the county refuses to bring the facility up to standards, "they'll probably limit the number of prisoners we can put in the jail." He said he had no idea where extra prisoners would be lodged.

"If we don't do something to limit the problem of overcrowding, I'm going to get a court order or something to limit the number of prisoners," Jewell told commissioners.

"I sympathize with you, I'm a taxpayer, too," Jewell said. "But the situation is not getting any better."

Ackley told board members the state regulations require such amenities as a dining area, gymnasium, infirmary, and that each prisoner have his own cell. "This is what they say is necessary," Ackley said. "The facilities provided in this plan are minimal."

The plans presented yesterday call for an addition to the east of the present jail 80 feet long and 60 feet wide (to face Port street) and a new wing 175 by 60 feet extending east along the present service driveway to the jail garage. The entire structure will then have three stories, since the present structure has two.

PRICE STUMPS COUNTY BOARD Jail Addition Cost $6.5 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was a rainy day during the wettest May in 56 years. But without a dissenting vote, the Los Angeles city council passed a bill to reduce water use because of the drought caused by the past two dry years. Certain wasteful uses of water were banned by the new ordinance signed into law Thursday. Beginning July 1 citizens must use no more than 90 per cent of the water they used during the same months last year. Repeated violators could have their water shut off. The ordinance bans hosing down sidewalks and other paved areas, watering lawns between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., operating nonrecycling fountains and serving water in restaurants unless recycled by customers. Several councilmen expressed disgust that the city must ration even though it has spent $500 million on water project bonds. The bonds must still be paid off and the Department of Water Projects has fixed costs that must be met. This means higher water rates for the consumer even though he cuts his water use, DWP officials told the council.

Niles Man Wins Prize Of $7,000

NILES — Jack Jeru of Niles won $7,000 last night in the weekly Michigan lottery drawing held in Detroit.

Jeru, 55, a retired tire company worker, was among seven people who had a chance at the $108,000 top prize.

According to Associated Press, a Farmington Hills aluminum salesman, Walter Flood, 51, won the top prize.

AP identified other winners as Leo Lemback, 53, Riverview, $16,000; Ronald Conn, 59, Pontiac, $8,000; Dirty Dozen Lottery Club of Royal Oak, $8,000; and Milton Mackey, 56, Swartz Creek, $8,000.

Frank Fabian, a Detroit man who had won first prizes worth a combined $216,000 in the two previous weeks, walked away empty handed last night, AP said.

Dow Chief No. 2 With $1,648,000 Salary

NEW YORK (AP) — C.B. Branch, chairman of Dow Chemical Co., was the second highest paid executive in the United States last year, Business Week magazine has reported. Business Week said Thursday that Branch was paid $1,648,000.

Harry G. Gray, chairman and president of United Technologies Corp., earned nearly $32,000 a week in salary, benefits and stock options last year, making him the highest paid executive in the United States, Business Week reported. Business Week said in its May 23 issue Gray's annual earnings totaled $1,662,000.

David S. Lewis, chairman and president of General Dynamics Corp., made $1,300,000 for third place.

The magazine's totals bumped Harold S. Geneen, chairman of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., from the list of the 15 highest paid executives.

Geneen earned $846,000 in salary and benefits last year, up from $778,000 the year before.

The magazine's survey was based on statistics gathered from 168 large companies with the assistance of management consultants Booz, Allen & Hamilton Inc. The total compensation is the sum of salary and bonuses, other benefits and stock options exercised.

On salary and bonuses alone, Business Week said Ford Motor Co. Chairman Henry Ford II and Ford President Lee A. Iacocca were tied for the lead, earning $870,000 apiece, up from $334,000 each in 1975. Each man collected a $810,000 bonus in 1976 after the company racked up a 332 per cent gain in profits.

Among other highly paid executives:

—Leonard H. Goldenson, chairman of American Broadcasting Companies, took home $1,080,000 in salary, bonuses and options.

—General Motors Corp. Chairman Thomas A. Murphy earned $950,000 in salary and bonuses, while GM President Elliott M. Estes earned $885,000. GM Vice Chairman Richard L. Terrell, ranked 15th on the magazine's list, earned $860,000.

—Chase Manhattan Corp. Chairman David Rockefeller earned $293,000.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

An Instant Increase In Potential Voter Fraud

Pass off the flap which occurred when Deputy Attorney General Peter F. Flaherty — a new man in the Carter administration — refused to provide Congress with a departmental memo critical of the administration's voter registration plan as an error born of inexperience. Within a day administration officials had reversed Flaherty's executive privilege claim, released the memo and avoided a possible confrontation with Congress over a touchy issue.

Flaherty may have been embarrassed by his congressional baptism, but the former Pittsburgh mayor is not unaccustomed to the sometimes surprising world of politics. What is important is that members of Congress considering the Carter instant registration plan have a contrary opinion developed by the Justice Department to consider.

Of course voter registration on election day has the potential for great abuse. Personal identification can be forged and election officials would have no time to check identification presented at the polls. The administration's argument is that unspecified safeguards in the registration process and severe penalties for fraud could hold down abuses.

Perhaps so, but that doesn't explain why voting fraud continues to occur even now under far more stringent registration procedures. Congress needs to weigh the fraud possibilities heavily against the presumed advantage of greater voter turnout.

Population Explosion Has A Reverse Side

When demographers discuss the "population problem," they usually focus on the plight of such overpopulated and underdeveloped countries as India, Bangladesh and Indonesia. A number of developed countries have a different kind of problem. Because of falling birth rates, their populations are heading toward zero growth or actual decline.

Thus far, East Germany is the only major developed nation to have experienced a net loss of population since World War II. Escapes by refugees and a low birth rate — 10.6 per 1,000 population — have caused a 1.5-million drop in population since 1950, to 16.9 million.

Overcrowded countries like Britain, the Netherlands and West Germany no doubt would welcome a certain amount of population loss. France, however, is a different matter. The late Charles de Gaulle believed France could easily support a population of 100 million, and his supporters have continued to press for policies to achieve that objective.

France has been concerned about its relatively static population for decades. On a New Year's Eve address to the nation last year, President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing said: "In 1800, France was three times more populous than Britain and nearly as populated as Russia. But now..."

France's current population is 53.3 million, while Britain's is 56.1 million and the Soviet Union's is 256.8 million. Former Prime Minister Michel Debre has noted that in 1789, the year the French Revolution began, France's population of 27.6 million constituted 17 per cent of the European total. Today, France accounts for only 11 per cent of the combined populations of Eastern and Western Europe, excluding the Soviet Union.

American Jews also are worried about depletion of their ranks, but in their case the principal cause is different. In Europe, the forbears of American Jews lived in tightly knit communities and had scant social contact with persons of other faiths. While the same pattern obtained in the United States for many years after the peak period of Jewish immigration, Jews and gentiles now come into frequent contact. The result has been a rise in intermarriage, which often results in the "loss" of the Jewish partner as a practicing member of the faith.

"There are at present about 5.8 million Jews in America, or 2.7 per cent of the U.S. population," says the Jewish Times. "Those figures are decreasing each year, and there is a very real concern that owing to a combination of factors — most notably inadequate education that 'turns off' many youngsters, a steadily declining Jewish birth rate that is lower than the death rate, and the...increase of intermarriages — the very existence of an American Jewish community 50 years from now is in jeopardy."

This possibility is cause for grave concern of all Americans, not just Jewish Americans. The latter have made incredibly immense contributions to science, arts, business, medicine, law and every other field of human endeavor — way out of proportion to their scant proportion of U.S. population.

The question of static or declining populations thus adds a new dimension to the ongoing debate on population control. Generally speaking, birth rates are highest in countries most in need of control and lowest in those where overcrowding is a manageable problem. It is no easy task to decide on the optimum population of a country or a minority group, let alone to implement plans for reaching the desired level. After all, former Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was defeated in a recent national election largely because of popular opposition to her zealously pursued birth-control program. It wasn't political freedom her constituents sought most.

Claims Parole Petitions Will Rebuke Legislators

Editor,

On Law Day, May 1, I launched a state-wide petition drive to reform the Michigan Parole System to require that convicted felons of violent crimes serve at least their minimum sentence before they become eligible for parole. Such an initiative petition state-wide is necessary because of the Legislature's three and one-half year refusal to deal with similar pending legislation.

The reaction of the Legislature to the petition drive was predictable.

First, the chairman of the House Judiciary committee responded extremely negatively. He asked, among other things, "Are we prepared to pay the price of at least 195 million dollars to build a prison to house convicted felons of violent crimes?" Let me respond in the words of the mother of an eleven year old girl raped and murdered by a parolee in Oakland County: "I would gladly pay 195 million dollars to have the opportunity just one more time to tuck my little girl in bed."

Secondly, the reaction of the Joint Capital Outlay committee of the Legislature, looking into possible prison sites in Michigan, would be laughable if it wasn't so pathetically arrogant. The Joint committee directed the Department of Management and Budget to specifically examine Oakland County as a prime site for locating a new prison.

Such an obvious move by the Legislature is no more than a blatant act to intimidate not only the public in Oakland County, but citizens across the state from getting involved in a tough law enforcement the third Saturday of the month this year.

I could never understand why our "once a year" Blossomland Festival Grand Floral Parade was held on the same Saturday as the Holland Tulip Festival Parade, a community less than 50 miles away.

I am of Dutch extraction and as a child always attended the Holland parade and revelled in the beauty of all the tulips.

Also being a lifelong resident of St. Joseph, I want to be able to attend the festivities here. Holding our parade the same day as the Holland parade denied me the pleasure of attending both festivities.

This year, thanks to your decision, I'll be able to attend each one.

I know for a fact many tourists that stop at our place of business on their way up to Holland wish they could see both parades.

Also let me make note here of your decision not to have the parade on the Saturday before Mother's Day. As manager of McKenzie's Bakery in St. Joseph, I know it helps our business to hold the parade at a later date.

I hope you will stick to your decision year after year, allowing people to see and attend both festivals. I'm sure the attendance will be greater at both and both communities will benefit.

Thank you again, program. What this Legislative committee is saying, in effect, is that if citizens of this state dare avail themselves of their constitutional right to initiate legislation through a petition drive, they will be punished by the State Legislature.

I, for one, feel that these Legislators have truly underestimated the Michigan public. We will show them so in our petition drive for parole reform.

Despite a petition that could leave the city on the book for the entire $1.5 million cost of its elderly citizens housing project, the St. Joseph city commission Friday approved a contract for that sum and told the contractor to go ahead. The commission instructed the mayor and city clerk to sign a contract with the Holland Construction Co. of St. Joseph for $1,537,608. It calls for construction of a 13-story structure on Block 3 of the city's urban renewal area. The federal government will pay 75 per cent of the cost. A petition asking for a city-wide election to vote on repealing the ordinance that established the City Housing commission, and in turn the housing project itself, had been filed with the city clerk less than two hours before the commission met. Contractor Dwight (Curley) Holland said after the meeting that he plans to start construction work on the site Monday morning. He estimated completion time in 15 to 18 months.

McGovern Has New Fixation

Now that millions of people in South Vietnam can go to bed at night secure in the belief that in the morning they will wake up to enjoy the delights of Communist totalitarianism, George McGovern feels free to shift his attention away from Southeast Asia.

After years of effort on the Vietnam issue, after a presidential candidacy based on it, McGovern now turns his gaze to Cuba.

McGovern's affinity for Communist totalitarianism is apparently boundless.

McGovern, indeed, is an extraordinary phenomenon. Perhaps he belongs in the Smithsonian Institution. McGovern, who once, without intellectual embarrassment, called Ho Chi Minh the George Washington of his country, now assures us, again without apparent embarrassment, that Fidel Castro has secured for his countrymen the basic human rights of food, employment, and health care.

Now, set to one side the fact, publicly admitted by Cuban managers, that the Cuban economy is a shambles. Set aside the fact that this odious and preposterous regime must be propped up by the Soviet Union, the price tag rising from an initial $1 million per day to a current $4 million per day.

Forget all that. As McGovern sees it, Castro has done a fine job. But it is not striking that, in his list of the basic human rights supposedly secured for all Cubans, McGovern nowhere breathes the word freedom?

To be sure, it would be a bit difficult for McGovern to make a case for the flourishing state of freedom in Cuba. Uniquely in Latin America, a Cuban citizen cannot enter and leave freely, even if charged with no offense. Castro holds a large number of political prisoners.

About the person of the Maximum Leader himself, McGovern is absolutely stammering. His public comments sound like the thought-stream of Susie Q. dreaming about Robert Redford.

"It was on our second evening in Havana," McGovern wrote recently — "as we were completing a small informal dinner... that Fidel Castro suddenly joined us. His appearance matched his advertised image — bearded, cigar in hand, dressed in plain but finely tailored army fatigues, his eyes dancing."

Sigh. "But there is another side of the Cuban leader that I had not expected. In private conversation, at least in a diplomatic setting, he is soft-spoken, shy, sensitive, sometimes witty, sometimes slightly ill at ease. I frankly liked him."

This is clearly one of the great romances of our time. Ho Chi Minh has been completely erased from the McGovern mind. He has not yet called Castro the George Washington of his country, but just stick around.

McGovern, meanwhile, has been performing yeoman service for the Castro regime, introducing legislation to lift the U.S. embargo, promoting contacts between U.S. businessmen and Cuban officials, flacking the Cuban case at every opportunity.

Send Money... By Return Mail

WASHINGTON — Direct mail advertising fascinates and repels me, with its intensely intimate appeal addressed to a mere several hundred thousand persons carefully selected for their supposed vulnerability to just that pitch.

By coincidence, I received two letters last week which offer sharply contrasting but equally sophisticated approaches to the multi-million dollar business of raising funds for political causes. They reflect a crucial fact about this sort of direct mail — it only works well for the philosophical extremes on right and left.

This is so because the extremes can easily find their targets and, once found, the targets usually fork over. Lists of names of fellow believers are readily available from similar causes and sympathetic publications.

Centrists, on the other hand, hold their beliefs less rigidly and are not easily aroused to reach for their wallets. This particular piece of wisdom has been acquired the hard way by some fund-raising groups. Common Cause, for example, spent more than a million to buy and solicit the Reader's Digest subscription list and got only a handful of new contributors for its pains. The reason, Common Cause decided, was that the magazine's readers are primarily centrists.

Such fund-raising letters do not ordinarily come to me in my capacity as a member of the press. The authors are not interested in publicity; they are interested in hard cash, preferably by return mail. One letter came to me because I am a law student, and the other was addressed to my father, who has been dead for three years, and forwarded to me.

They make it very clear that inflation has hit the fund-raising business with a vengeance. They both suggest sums from $50 to $1,000, with $500 put forward as a nice round figure. "Give what you can, even a penny will help," has obviously gone the way of the nickel candy bar.

The first letter came from Ralph Nader, who is thinking of setting up a public interest law firm financed by law students. His theory appears to be that if law school students aren't already rich through heavy subsidies from daddy they soon will be once they begin practicing. Visions of HEV Secretary Joe Califano's cool half-million a year income before his appointment come immediately to mind.

And the rich are supposed to feel guilty about those less fortunate, right? So Nader's letter suggests an annual pledge of up to $1,000 or a percentage of income to ease the conscience. He points out that $500 pledges from just 10 percent of the approximately 120,000 U.S. law students would raise $6 million annually after three years.

Nader is so confident of his own pulling power that he doesn't waste any time discussing just why another public interest law firm might be desirable. He just concentrates on getting money.

By contrast, my second letter-writer spends a lot of effort persuading me his cause is just. Freshman Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah) is raising funds for the right-to-work committee.

Hatch argues, in strong language, that union tyrants are running amok and must be stopped. He warns readers not to "cave in and surrender our freedom."

Board Eyes Air Flights To Detroit

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

The Twin Cities airport board yesterday agreed to meet with officials from North Central Airlines, which provides airline service at Ross field, to ask for scheduled flights east to Detroit.

Presently, people going east from the Twin Cities must first fly to Chicago or Grand Rapids to make connections for Detroit and the east.

Don Ranum, a board member, said it was a "tremendous inconvenience" for people to first go to Chicago and said North Central statistics show that 60 per cent of the people leaving Ross field for Chicago actually are eastbound.

Ross airport currently has five daily flights to Chicago and two flights daily to Grand Rapids, according to Lee Schiek, airport manager. The two stops in Grand Rapids are both eastbound, he said.

The airport board agreed to meet with North Central officials after a study of the need for an easterly flight is completed by the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce. John Banyon, board chairman and past president of the Chamber of Commerce, said the Chamber is currently surveying its members and passengers leaving Ross field to determine the need for an eastbound flight.

The board also reviewed statistics from North Central which show passengers for the first quarter of 1977 increased 14 per cent over the first quarter of 1976, while the number of North Central flights during the same period decreased 11 per cent.

A total of 21,306 passengers arrived and departed from Ross field during the first quarter of 1977, according to the North Central report, compared to 18,666 during the same period last year. North Central made 1,500 arrivals and departures from Ross field during the first quarter of 1977, compared to 1,688 during the first quarter of 1976, the report stated.

In other action, the board appointed a committee to nominate board officers for the 1977-1978 fiscal year. Named to the committee were Benton Harbor City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr., St. Joseph City Manager Gerald Hepler, and St. Joseph Township Trustee Carroll Gerbel.

Field Service Officer To Help Area Veterans

Ernest Boersma, field service officer for AMVETS, will be at the Michigan Employment Security commission office in St. Joseph from 1 to 4 p.m. May 17 to assist veterans or their dependants with any problems.

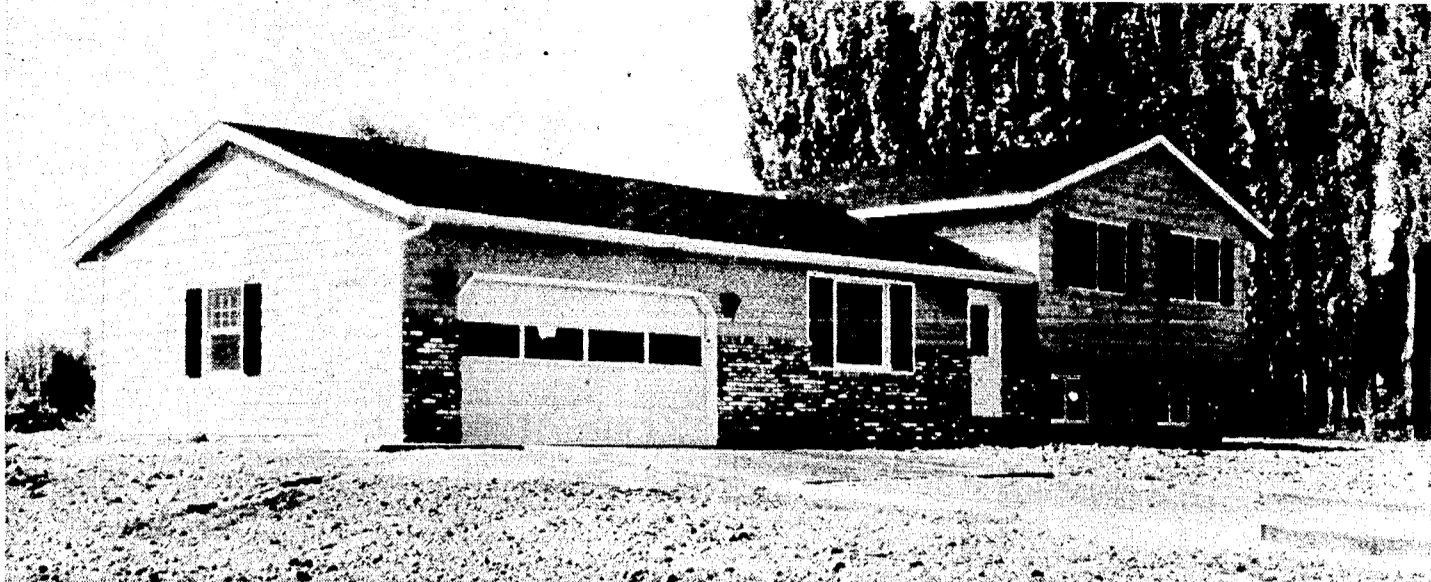

MR. BH: Reinaldo Tripplett, 17, a junior at Benton Harbor high school, was crowned "Mr. Benton Harbor" during second annual contest at Bachelors 14 club. President of his junior class Reinaldo is also a member of high school concert choir and "Tiger" mascot for varsity athletic events. He is son of Mrs. Lucille Tripplett, 1485 Union. He has two brothers and five sisters. He was chosen from field of 12 contestants. Contest was attended by an estimated 300 people. (Staff photo)

Two Roads Closing For RR Repairs

Portions of St. Joseph avenue and Marquette Woods road north of Stevensville will be closed during the next two weeks while railroad crossings are being repaired, according to the Berrien county road commission.

Frank Rupe, chief engineer for the commission, said St. Joseph avenue from Stevensville to Marquette Woods road will be closed to through traffic starting Monday for a week while a railroad crossing on St. Joseph avenue is being repaired.

Marquette Woods road will be closed to through traffic between St. Joseph avenue and Roosevelt road the following week for repair of the Marquette Woods crossing, Rupe said.

CONSTRUCTION PROJECT: Tri-level home at 223 Summit drive, Watervliet, is result of combined construction efforts of 29 Coloma and Watervliet high school students. Three bedroom house is to be open to public Sunday and Monday between 1 and 5 p.m. both days. It is to be sold through Sulko and Century 21 — Nadeau real estate companies. Funding for construction was made available, interest free, through People's Savings association, Watervliet. Sale price of house has not yet been set. Project was begun at beginning of this school year. (Sandy Krickhahn photos)

Local Insurance Firm President Leo Rutz Dies

Leo C. Rutz, 61, founder and president of a long-time insurance agency in the Twin Cities and active in civic affairs, died at 11:50 p.m. Thursday in St. Joseph Memorial hospital. He had been ill since January.

His home was at 90 Beechwood Circle, Paw Paw lake, Watervliet. He was born Dec. 5, 1915, in Stevensville.

Mr. Rutz established the Leo C. Rutz Insurance Agency in Benton Harbor in 1936, and in 1963 the firm's name was changed to the Rutz-Smith Agency when he was joined in the corporation by Franklin Smith, who is mayor of St. Joseph. Mr. Rutz was president and treasurer of the firm.

Mr. Rutz was a member of a number of organizations, and served as an appointed member of the Berrien County Planning commission. He was on the board of directors of Peoples Savings association, and belonged to Economic Club of Southwestern Michigan, Twin City Rotary club, and Berrien Hills Country club. He was a member of the Twin City Association of Insurance Agents and the Insurance Agents Life Underwriters. He was a charter member and held several offices in the Good Shepherd Lutheran church.

Mr. Rutz was an officer in the U.S. Army during World War II and served in Korea after the close of hostilities.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Monday in the DeFlorin funeral home, St. Joseph, where friends may call beginning at 7 p.m. Saturday. Burial will be in Riverview cemetery.

Memorials may be made to Berrien County Cancer Service or Good Shepherd Lutheran church.

Bitten By Dog

St. Joseph police reported a five year old was bitten by a neighbor's dog while playing in front of his home. Thursday evening, Mary Ann Poplawski, mother of Tony Poplawski, told police her son was treated at Memorial hospital for a cut on the chest after he was bitten by a dog while playing in front of his home at 510 Jones street at about 6 p.m.

Owner of the dog, Barbara Krause, 823 Lake boulevard, was advised to keep the animal confined ten days as a rabies safeguard, police said.

Body Recovered

BLISSFIELD, Mich. (AP) — The body of 18-year-old Terry Lee Knoblauch of Blissfield was recovered Thursday after five days of dragging the River Raisin, Lenawee County sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies say the man had been missing since last Friday when it was reported the car he had been driving plunged into the river near Blissfield. Officials say he apparently lost control of his car on a curve.

MONDAY IN BLUFF PARK

Picnic Will Open SJ Blossom Week

John Cookson, president of the St. Joseph Business association, today announced plans for a "Picnic in the Park" open to the public on Monday, May 16, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. in downtown St. Joseph. The picnic supper kicks off "Blossom Week in St. Joseph," a week-long series of events. The outdoor picnic will be held at the corner of Broad street and Lake boulevard on the bluff overlooking Lake Michigan. The menu will feature charcoal-roasted bratwurst, German potato salad, a pickle spear, and a beverage. Tickets will be available at the park and will be $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12. All proceeds will be used to fund community events during "Blossom Week in Downtown St. Joseph," Cookson said.

Cookson has been a member of the St. Joseph Business association for the past five years. He and his partner, Robert Fischer, own and operate Rimes Shoes in downtown St. Joseph. "Blossom Week in Downtown St. Joseph" is sponsored by the St. Joseph Business association.

KITCHEN COMPLETION: Student Doug Sipla, Coloma high school, puts finishing touches on kitchen cabinets in house constructed by students from Coloma and Watervliet high schools' house construction class. Tony Pantelleria, project instructor, said house has 1,684 square feet. Wesley Arent, vocational director for the project said house is fourth constructed by combined efforts of students over last four years. Both instructors are from Coloma high school.

United Way Begins Review Of Requests For $920,000

Blossomland United Way has begun to review requests from 37 agencies asking for a total of more than $920,000 in funding during the 1978 calendar year.

The BUW allocations committee must review the requests and make a recommendation to the BUW board of directors which will then set a pledge goal for the 1977 Blossomland United Way fund-raising campaign, according to James Blair, BUW allocations chairman.

Last year, Blair said, BUW received requests for $87,000 in funds and finally allocated $25,000.

Blair said the effects of inflation were evident in requests for funding for the 1978 year. He said requests were up 20 per cent from last year.

The 1977 BUW allocations team makes a preliminary evaluation of the agency request with an on-site visit held in advance of the formal conference, according to Blair. Representatives of the agencies will meet with the allocations committee in three more four-hour sessions set for May 19, May 26, and June 2.

The BUW allocations committee has been subdivided into four units, with three to four agencies inspected by each unit. Assisting Blair as vice chairman is Terry McGath, while unit chairmen are Rev. Charles Frandsen, Ann Keech, Judy Jones and Jerry Orlaske. Comprising the allocations executive committee, this group meets monthly throughout the year to keep tabs on agency financial reports, and approve monthly disbursements as needed when requested by BUW organizations.

Serving as 1977 budget panelists are: Mike Baker, Esther Franz, Elliot Smythe, Dave Burlingame, Don Clements, Arnold Wiatrowski, Frank Czerzizian, Fred Hemsath, Al Winslow, William Campbell, Maynard Johnson, and William Weybright.

Local agencies requesting funds for 1978 are Boy Scouts of America, Southwest Michigan Council, Berrien County Cancer Service, Inc.; Child and Family Services of Michigan; Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, of Berrien County; Gateway, Inc.; Girl Scouts of Singing Sand Council, Inc.; Handicapped Camping, Berrien County Chapter American National Red Cross, Riverwood Community Mental Health Center, Salvation Army, YMCA, YWCA, and United Way of Michigan representing 23 state and national health research, education and service agencies.

Blair said his committee will present a total allocation proposal to the BUW board of directors at the June meeting.

This total plus a recommended pledge target filed by the campaign cabinet will assist the fund to get a public goal figure for the fall solicitation.

TRUCKER ROBBERY

Two Men Convicted By Berrien Juries

Two Saginaw men were convicted during separate trials yesterday and Wednesday in Berrien Circuit court of robbing a Minnesota truck driver last July at a rest stop off I-94.

Jailed without bond to await maximum sentences of life in prison were Samuel Williams, 24, and Terry Rush, 23, both of whom were convicted of armed robbery.

The pair was arrested July 28 after a state police trooper from New Buffalo fired three shotgun blasts that struck a fleeing car, forcing it off I-94.

Williams and Rush were convicted of robbing Dennis Bowman of $247 with a pistol at a rest stop in New Buffalo township. Jurors in Judge Julian Hughes' court deliberated 26 minutes before returning the guilty verdict against Williams, while a jury in Judge William White's court deliberated about 1½ hours before convicting Rush.

Assistant Prosecutor Quentin Fulcher was the prosecutor in both trials, while Williams was represented by Benton Harbor Atty. David Swanson. Counsel for Rush was St. Joseph Atty. Donald Bleich.

Approve Bond Issue

BOYNE CITY, Mich. (AP) — Boyne City voters approved a $2.625 million construction bond proposal on a vote of 782-665. The bond was for a new elementary school, changing the present elementary school into a middle school and building an addition to the high school.

SCHOOLS SWAP PRINCIPALS: Richard Higgs (left), St. Joseph high school principal, became Benton Harbor high school principal for a day Thursday while Wallace Dunn Jr., BHHS principal, took over Higgs' post. Berrien General

BERRIEN CENTER — Members of Berrien General Hospital Auxiliary contributed 12,757 volunteer hours to the hospital during the last year, it was reported at the annual meeting held May 10 at Win Schuler's restaurant, Stevensville.

During the luncheon, the auxiliary presented Sandra Bruce, hospital administrator, with a check for $8,250, presented scholarships to two area students and installed officers.

The money was raised by the auxiliary through various functions during the year and will be used to purchase a bubble-top touring van for the hospital's patients.

The auxiliary's membership includes 95 individual memberships and 23 club memberships.

Officers of the auxiliary installed for 1977-78 are Mrs. George (Ruth) Sharpe of Eau Claire, president; Mrs. Arthur (Ruth) Schacknics of Berrien Springs, vice president; Mrs. Charles (Pearl) Osender of Buchanan, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Stanley (Mary) Goodell of Eau Claire, recording secretary; Mrs. John (Pat) Gillette of Berrien Springs, treasurer, and Mrs. Lloyd (Elva) Noltsch of Berrien Springs, assistant treasurer.

Recipient of the $300 scholarship is Linda Haskins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Haskins of Eau Claire. She will graduate in June from Eau Claire high school and plans to attend Michigan Technological university, majoring in pre-medicine. Miss Haskins works in the cafeteria at Berrien General hospital. She was sponsored in the scholarship competition by the Young Women's League of Eau Claire.

Miss Susan Bahr of Waterliet, sponsored by the MECA club of Waterliet, was chosen as alternate.

In addition to the $300 scholarship, a $150 renewal scholarship was presented to Caprice Paustian of Berrien Springs. Miss Paustian was recipient of the $300 scholarship in 1976 and will use the renewal scholarship to continue her studies at the University of Michigan School of Nursing.

The auxiliary also donated over $800 in patient services and scholarships during the fiscal year. These patient services included the patient Christmas party, bingo, birthday gifts for nursing care patients' clothing, and layettes for newborn babies.

The hospital's director of volunteers, Julie Odiorne, presented all auxiliaries and group membership representatives with service recognition certificates.

Mrs. Harold (Dolly) Wagner, auxiliary recognition chairman, presented special service pins to five auxiliaries who have given 1,000 or more hours of their time to the auxiliary. Honored with pins were Mrs. Chester (Thelma) Krause of Berrien Springs, 3,000 hours; Mrs. George (Ruth) Sharpe of Eau Claire, 2,000 hours; and Mrs. Sam (Marguerite) Colvin of Berrien Springs, Mrs. Dorais (Lou) Mercer of Berrien Springs and Miss Dorothy Signmund of New Buffalo, 1,000 hours.

Entertainment for the luncheon was provided by Kenneth Saathroff, arts and crafts coordinator for Fernwood Nature Center.

Berrien Gideons Host Pastors

Honor Dr. Cooke

Floyd Eby of Coldwater was guest speaker for the annual Pastor's Rally for the Berrien Camp of Gideons May 9 at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn.

A past president of the Michigan Association of Gideons, Eby has long been active in the goals of Gideons International: Personal Witnessing and Bible Distribution.

Eby thanked the pastors and their congregations for financial and prayer support given the Berrien Camp and encouraged camp members to continue their efforts towards the International goals.

Highlighting the rally was the presentation of the Dignitary Bible to Dr. Weldon Cooke of Berrien Springs, in honor of his service, both medically and spiritually, at Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center.

The Rev. George Henriksen spoke on receiving a Gideon Bible and Debbie Wesner, daughter of Mrs. William Wesner and the late William Wesner, provided violin music. Prior to his death, Mr. and Mrs. Wesner were members of the Berrien Camp.

The Gideon ministry is now serving over 110 countries throughout the world and over 15 million Bibles and Testaments are given away freely each year by over 50,000 members of Gideons International.

How To Choose Flowers For Dates

MIDLAND — Now that today's fashionable strapless, off-the-shoulder and spaghetti-strap evening apparel limits wearability of the traditional corsage, how does a fellow go about choosing appropriate flowers for his prom date?

Northwood Institute's fashion merchandising department offered some suggestions to local high school juniors and seniors who recently attended a fashion and career day on the campus.

Now that flowers, both real and artificial, have become such an important fashion item for daytime and evening wear, a break from the former shoulder corsage can be a welcome and creative change.

For example, the Northwood fashion students suggest a young man choose garlands of flowers for his date's hair, in colors to match or coordinate with that special gown. Or, a bunch of fresh flora and fauna to be pinned to her waist. Even the old favorite wrist corsage is ever-so-appealing with an old-fashioned peasant gown.

And colorful blossoms woven into a choker can set off an especially stunning neckline. Nosegays are also retaining their popularity, according to the fashion merchandising department at Northwood.

Boutonnieres for young men are also taking on a new look in a departure from the standby carnation. A rosebud, daisy or any other blossom is perfectly appropriate to adorn a tuxedo. What is even more fun is choosing a bloom from whatever is decided for the young woman's prom flowers.

Creativity and color is the key this year.

Helpful Hint For Manicures

Here is a helpful idea for the homemaker who manicures her own nails. Drop several pellets of BB shot into your nail polish bottle — especially the frosted colors.

Each time you use the polish, shake well and the polish will be thoroughly mixed. The BB shot also raises the level of the polish so the brush can always reach it.

Guide For Handicapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — An airport guide for handicapped and elderly travelers, "Access Travel: A Guide to Accessibility of Airport Terminals," was released recently by the Airport Operators Council International and the Federal Architectural and Transportation Barriers Compliance board.

The guide covers 118 airports in the United States, Canada, New Zealand, Germany, Denmark, England, Australia and Switzerland. It lists 71 special features, from lowered telephones and drinking fountains to raised lettering on vending machines and telephones, and indicates which airports have these features.

There are about 41 million permanently disabled Americans and another 62 million who suffer temporary incapacities each year. They, along with a growing number of elderly persons, make up a significant proportion of today's air travelers.

The guide is available through the 26 member airlines of the Air Transport Association of America, the Airport Operators Council and the Compliance board. It will also be published in the spring issue of the Official Airline Guide Travel Planner and Hotel-Motel Guide.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Father's Full Time Job

Dear Ann Landers: The piece I send was printed in Newsday a few years ago. I came across it again and sent it to you to share with your readers — with the author's permission. His name is Martin Weinstein.

ON BEING A FATHER
I was the product of a broken home. I grew up without the physical or spiritual presence of a father, without the comforting knowledge that, at home, there was a strong figure I could turn to for solace, warmth, and discipline — someone who would be glad to share the joys of childhood and shield me from the minor hurts.

I am now a middle-aged man, the father of three, but I can still feel the pain of being fatherless — as if I just had a tooth extracted. That void in my life has never been filled.

Growing up alone forged my character and my personality. It taught me to look only to myself for aid and comfort. But it denied me an emotional haven, the one thing a young person needs if he is to grow up whole.

How vital it is for a child to have a shoulder to cry on in crisis. He needs a place to go — so he can close his eyes and shift the burden of woe or responsibility, even for a moment, to someone who really cares. Only a father can fill this role. Only a father can create the ambience that grounds the emotional security that young people require if they are to become mature adults and, in turn, pass on to their children the warmth and love that makes for stability.

I love my children and I care about them. This means, in addition to attending PTA meetings and open school nights, I give of myself. I do not try to enter their world as a peer. I want to be a father, not a friend. I establish order in my home. This means discipline — swift, certain, consistent and, above all else, loving. I strive to transmit waves of concern without creating neurotics. This means setting standards and insisting on achievement within the framework of my child's capacity to perform. It means sharing the victories and helping to pick up the pieces after a failure.

Being a father also means nights under a sheet — with billowing steam to cure the croup — and more nights trying to decipher the new math. It means museum time and romp time, family singing, dinner table discussions, reading Edgar Allan Poe by candlelight in the den, sacrifice without histrionics, conveying the fact that parents are human and, therefore, fallible. It means saying "I'm sorry" when you're wrong, even from your exalted position as head of the house.

The job is full-time, Saturdays and Sundays included. It can be open to anyone who cares to apply and is willing to work to qualify and it is not necessarily limited to natural parents. Stepfathers, adoptive fathers, even strangers who care, can enter the arena and carve out a relationship with a child that will be filled with rewards and yes, sorrows and disappointments. For the sum total of all these things is a father.

Dear Friend: Thank you for sending Martin Weinstein's beautiful piece, "On Being a Father." I'm sure he has helped put fatherhood in its proper perspective in a way that will be helpful to many.

Piece Of Fiction

People are always saying there isn't anything funny in the world anymore. There's nothing to laugh at and everything is so serious.

What do they know? The other afternoon, my son received a mimeographed sheet that was one of the funniest pieces of fiction I've ever read. The heading on it read, "THINGS TO BRING TO CAMP."

Maybe if I were a new mother sending her son to camp for the first time, I could have taken it seriously, but I'm an older mother and I haven't had such a good laugh since my doctor told me to get off my feet for a few days in 1973.

How's this for humor? Bring three pairs of shoes. (A kid who owns three pairs of shoes can only mean one thing. His gym shoes have come apart in three pieces.)

Stationery. In a waterproof container. (Preferably in a U.S. mailbox with a message written on it and stamped the day before he goes to camp. It's the only way you're going to hear from him.)

Soap: You never know when they might carve something out of it for crafts.

Flashlight for finding way to outdoor restroom: (Be prepared to have your child say on the last day of camp, "So THAT'S where the bathroom is.")

Cornb, toothbrush and other toiletries: If God had meant for children to permanently wrinkle, He'd never have made them drip dry.

Book for light reading. (You show me a kid reading a book at camp and I'll show you a kid with two broken legs and an X-rated comic book.)

Four changes of underwear (he didn't start life with that many).

Towels, two bath, one hand and a facecloth. (Label them towels as most campers do not recognize them.)

The trick to camping is to be "cool." Never act like you know what a pair of pajamas are, a raincoat and boots, a pillow or a bathing suit. (I know of one mother who sent hangers to camp with her son and he had to change his name.)

I suppose there was a time when I was quite complete about filling in the forms. But all that has changed. Under Allergies, I listed showers, doing dishes, making beds and finding his way home from anywhere.

Under personality traits that may help the counselor, I listed one, "He thinks he's an only child."

Under parties to call in case of accident, I gave our number and then added, "Let it ring."

I've found the less visual a parent can be at camp, the better time the boy has. I'll never forget the day we drove 60 miles of dirty road in temperatures of 85 degrees, arriving just in time for the awards ceremony. I waved to my son who looked at us like he had never met us before. "Where are your parents?" asked the counselor.

Our eyes met in mutual amazement as he said, "They couldn't make it. They're too busy."

collect two in the heart suit. If South had stopped to think before playing to trick two, he would have seen that he needed three heart tricks to make his slam. He was sure of them unless hearts broke 4-1. He would also have seen that any 4-1 break, except a singleton king, would have surely beaten him. But he could handle that break by simply playing dummy's ace of hearts right away. This safety play would cost him an overtrick if West held K x. But what is an over-trick when you are trying for a slam?

Nature Films Monday

Two nature films will be shown Monday, May 18, at 12:15 p.m. in the Benton Harbor public library auditorium.

"Beaver Dam" is a nature lesson in which a beaver builds a dam and floods a farmer's hay field. "Otters: Clowns of the Sea" was photographed along the California coast and presents the otter in a variety of moods.

The public is invited and anyone wishing to bring a lunch may do so.

Books added to the library collection include "Teenage Alcoholism" by James Haskins; "Right Here in River City," Tracy Thomas; "First Man, Then Adam," Irwin Ginsburgh; "Hannah's Daughter," Dorothy Gallagher.

Also "Murder at the Aba," Isaac Asimov; "Parent's Book About Divorce," Richard

Gardner; "The Cleveland Street Scandal," H. Montgomery Hyde; "The Artie Highway," John Douglas, and "The Wit and Wisdom of Jimmy Carter," edited by Bill Adler.

Carter Signing $4 Billion Jobs Bill

PRESIDENT CARTER
Making It Law

Cuba, Vietnam Trade Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, approving a $1.7 billion foreign aid bill, says without qualification it doesn't want the United States trading with Cuba or Vietnam.

By a vote of 288-119, the House adopted an amendment backing the embargo in effect against the two nations. The same bill, approved Thursday, lifts restrictions on food shipped to nations which do have trade relations with Havana and Hanoi.

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is preparing to sign a $4 billion public works bill that supporters say could create as many as 600,000 new jobs.

With 25 mayors from some of the nation's major cities expected to look on, the President planned to sign the legislation this morning in the White House Rose Garden.

Carter mentioned the jobs bill Thursday as he held a nationally televised news conference in which he discussed his summit trip to Europe and defended his domestic policies.

The President was asked about Democratic liberals' criticism of his economic policies. In turning aside such complaints, Carter listed the jobs bill as an accomplishment, then also listed appropriations for local governments, a summer jobs program and his proposal to revamp the funding of the Social Security system.

"I do not consider these moves to help people to go back to work and have a good life to be incompatible with a balanced budget before my own term of office is over," he said, linking a balanced budget and "the right of people to have a job."

The $4 billion jobs bill will provide money for road repairs, construction of hospitals, libraries and police stations and other projects designed to benefit communities and put the unemployed to work, especially those laid off from construction jobs.

Congress approved the jobs bill last week, but Carter left for the London summit before he could sign it.

The jobs bill is the second stage of a $2 billion program initially approved last December by then-President Gerald R. Ford. When that bill became law, $24 billion in applications for funds were received from mayors' offices, school boards and other community agencies.

Carter had been criticized by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., who said in a speech last weekend that Carter was willing to sacrifice important social programs in order to balance the federal budget.

The President has been similarly criticized by AFL-CIO President George Meany. Carter said that despite the labor chief's criticism administration proposals affecting organized labor were unexcelled, "even going back to the early days of Lyndon Johnson."

billion public works proposal that Congress has already approved is too little. He feels that I should put tight constraints against the importation of color television sets, sugar, shoes," Carter said. "I think I have worked out a good balance on those proposals."

British 'Car Of Future' Is Selling For $75,000

By TOM CRANE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A retired Phoenix chemical engineer liked it and ordered one for his wife.

Two are reportedly on order for the shah of Iran.

But the garage of a Saudi Arabian oil potentate will be the best equipped, with no less than half-a-dozen.

All three buyers must be patient, however, because the $75,000 Lagondas they have ordered will not be available until Britain's Aston Martin plant begins delivery — late this year in the United Kingdom and a year later in the United States.

All the buyer can do for the moment is sign an order for a Lagonda and make an $10,000 down payment — as 108 have done to date.

But as a reward for patience, the new owner will eventually be able to slip into the sumptuous interior of the car's handcrafted aluminum body, sink into the luxurious leather upholstery and push the memory button to adjust the driver's seat to precise, preset specifications.

What looks like a wall-to-wall black plastic panel in place of the conventional dashboard will then light up like an oversized electronic calculator. It will display a welter of information in both digital and graphic form, revealing the performance of "the world's most luxurious car."

That last superlative was supplied by Peter Sprague, 38, co-chairman of Aston Martin Lagonda Ltd., as he stopped briefly at his Sutton Square home here after displaying the only prototype of the Lagonda, valued at $400,000, at the recent Los Angeles Automobile Show.

The sleek four-door car cruises comfortably at 140 miles per hour if the driver finds himself on the Salt Flats or alone on a British superhighway.

The mass production plan for the Lagonda calls for four or five cars per week to roll out of the plant in Newport Pagnell, Buckinghamshire, assuring a buyer of that exclusive feeling. He'll seldom, if ever, see a car just like his own.

Along with 16 warning lights, the panel includes pushbuttons that instantly convert speed from miles to kilometers per hour and vice versa. There's an electronic display showing average speed and fuel consumption, combined with a current speed and instantaneous fuel consumption reading. There's also an elapsed time and distance read-out.

The car has pushbutton controls for engine instructions, including the setting of a prescribed speed to be maintained regardless of grade.

Electronics of the sort used in the Lagonda are made possible by the microprocessor, the so-called "computer on a chip."

These minicomputers — the size of a thumbnail — made their first commercial appearances in video games, digital clocks and watches and some of the new small electronic calculators. They are also showing up in home appliances — ovens with digital timing and temperature displays, for example.

Detroit auto manufacturers say they expect to use microprocessors in their cars more and more in the future, but no American car today comes close to have the electronic gadgetry of the Lagonda.

Since only a prototype Lagonda exists, no mileage figures are available for the car. The manufacturers say it should get good mileage because of its aerodynamic design.

Sprague plans to drive the prototype to the Motor City later this year after an anticipated September debut at Manhattan's Wide World of Cars, which is to be the distributor here.

"It will be a lot of fun to see their reaction," he said of the Detroit auto makers. "It's the highest-performance, four-door car in the world. I predict that two-thirds of the electronics in the Lagonda will show up in Detroit cars in the 1980s."

"The kind of person who buys the Lagonda is the kind intrigued by new things and wants to be among the first to use them," he said, predicting that mass production eventually would lower the price, as it did with digital watches.

GOP Solidly For No-Tax Plan

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans, rejecting all new tax proposals contained in President Carter's energy program, are offering a rival plan aimed at "incentives rather than punishment."

The energy proposal, adopted without dissent by Senate GOP members on Thursday, calls for removal of price controls on oil and natural gas and tax breaks for Americans who conserve energy in their homes and businesses.

It calls for some of the same energy conservation measures advocated by the President, but none of the taxes.

Senate Republican Leader Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., said elements of the GOP counter-offensive to Carter's energy package will be introduced in the Senate piece by piece in the coming days.

If the 35 GOP members of the Senate stand solidly behind the plan — as Republican leaders say they will — it could pose a major obstacle to enactment of some of the more controversial elements of the administration's energy program.

"We do not have a tax on gas-guzzlers and we specifically reject a standby tax on gasoline," said Sen. John Tower, R-Texas. "Our provisions are positive, incentives rather than punishment."

Carter asked for authority to impose a gasoline tax of up to 50 cents a gallon if gasoline consumption continues to rise rapidly, and for a tax of up to $2,500 on fuel-inefficient automobiles.

But Senate Republicans rejected the President's proposal for taxes on domestic oil production and on utilities that continue to use oil and natural gas.

The GOP plan for deregulation would allow domestic oil and gas prices to rise to worldmarket levels.

Deregulation has been a goal of the U.S. energy industry and members of Congress from oil and gas-producing states, who claim the current federal controls keep prices artificially low and discourage exploration for new reserves.

The Republican plan advocates an immediate end to price controls on newly drilled oil and natural gas and on petroleum products such as gasoline and heating oil.

Businessmen See 'Sound Growth Path'

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — The nation's economy, with growing strength in its investment sector, is on a "sound growth path" that should continue well into 1978, economic consultants to the Business Council predicted today.

In a fairly optimistic forecast, the group said the biggest problem areas for 1977 were the possibility of another spurt in inflation and potentially negative effects of President Carter's energy program on consumer and business confidence.

About 100 members of the Business Council, composed of the chairmen and officials of some of the nation's largest and most influential corporations, opened their spring meeting here Thursday night.

"The only way the economy is going to keep its upward trend is to keep capital goods moving," council members said.

The council forecast also expected that the real gross national product would grow 4.9 per cent this year and 4.4 per cent in the first half of 1978.

But energy companies would have to reinvest their anticipated extra profits in further exploration and development or face a possible "windfall profits tax."

Price controls also would be removed from oil from older wells and from some gas from older fields, but more gradually.

The Republican plan does not say how gradually these controls would end. Tower said the question was left open because Republicans failed to agree among themselves on a timetable.

In contrast, the administration plan would allow the price of domestic oil to rise to world-market levels, but through a complex tax placed on oil at the wellhead. The Carter plan also would continue federal price controls on natural gas, raising prices in the interstate market while lowering them in the currently unregulated markets in gas-producing states.

Like Carter's plan, the GOP version offers tax breaks for home insulation and for various other energy conservation measures in homes and businesses.

Unlike Carter's proposal, the Republican plan calls for completion of the controversial Clinch River nuclear breeder reactor project in Tennessee.

Senate Advances Anti-Fraud Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Stiffer criminal penalties for Medicaid fraud were approved by the state Senate in a bill giving the attorney general more power to prosecute bilkers of the health-care system.

The bill, passed 34-0 Thursday and sent to the House, calls for up to four years in prison and a $50,000 fine for a doctor, pharmacist and anyone health care provider who cheats the system. It also allows the attorney general to file civil lawsuits against persons convicted of fraud for three times the amount they illegally received.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has urged the legislature to enact tougher laws to help the state fight Medicaid fraud. Backers of the bill say more than $100 million is drained from the Medicaid system in Michigan annually. He also urged revocation of licenses for those convicted.

But lawmakers rejected placing that in the bill, arguing that licensing boards have the power to revoke licenses upon conviction of a person for fraud. But they did draft the bill so health care practitioners are responsible for their Medicaid billings and cannot blame fraud on employees' mistakes.

The arts came out on the long end of a boisterous debate in the state House as lawmakers voted 62-35 Thursday to boost state arts spending next fiscal year by 89 per cent.

Two Detroit Democrats bitterly criticized the big increase. They argued the public has more urgent needs and wishes. They and others wanted to hold the line on arts spending or at least reduce the size of the

Nixon Casts Himself As A Statesman

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A relaxed Richard Nixon, casting himself as coolly in charge of his own foreign policy, says he initiated overtures to China, faced the Russians down in the 1973 Middle East war and rescued Egyptian President Anwar Sadat from "a coup or worse."

In a taped interview with British television personality David Frost, Nixon said he had to overcome the reservations of Henry Kissinger, to maintain U.S. military operations in Cambodia in 1970, despite demonstrations at Kent State and other universities.

And, again over Kissinger's warnings of possible political and diplomatic implications, Nixon said he ordered the Pentagon to "send everything that flies" to Israel to help the Jewish state snap back from the 1973 Yom Kippur attack by Egypt and Syria.

Nixon appeared as confident discussing world affairs in Thursday's taped interview as he had appeared uneasy in dealing with his Watergate downfall in last week's telecast. Nixon, the only man to resign the presidency, assessed the world leaders he met while president and called Kissinger, who became both secretary of state and national security chief, "a genius" who had to have things his way.

Of the world leaders he met, Nixon said:

—The late Chairman Mao Tse-tung of China had "a devilish sense of humor" and lived very simply. Despite debilitating strokes he maintained control over China until his death last year.

—The late Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev was "both brilliant and boorish, with "a terrible inferiority complex."

—Khrushchev's successor, Leonid I. Brezhnev, is not as quick intellectually, but also is not as volatile "and in that way a much safer man to have sitting there with his finger on the (nuclear) button."

Nixon called Kissinger an emotional intellectual who "likes to say outrageous things." He said Kissinger, who likes being a celebrity, constantly feuded with William P. Rogers before succeeding him as secretary of state.

Later, after the Watergate scandal forced Nixon's own resignation, Kissinger was sometimes critical of his old boss. In a dinner conversation in Ottawa, Canada, in October 1975, for instance, he was overheard describing Nixon as an odd and artificial man.

"Quite candidly," Nixon said, "it drives my family right up the wall and it's only because it bothers them, that it would bother me at all."

Surveying his achievements, Nixon said he conceived of the possibility of an initiative toward China before he ever met Kissinger, who nevertheless pursued it "with enormous enthusiasm."

In the Middle East, he said, he cautioned the Soviets not to move in military forces during the 1973 war and rejected as "sheer madness" a proposal by them that they act jointly to impose a ceasefire.

Nixon said he told Kissinger: "Henry," I said, "This idea of the Russians having two Russian infantry divisions going to the Mid-East and putting themselves down in Egypt and Syria, and we send two American divisions into Israel in order to keep the peace there." I said, "This is sheer madness. It may keep the peace, but it runs into the possibility of a big-power conflict."

Rebates On Imported Cars Called 'Disaster' For Labor

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II says it would be a "disaster" for the American worker if President Carter's energy program included rebates on fuel-slinging imported cars.

"It's the wrong thing to do. It would cost jobs in the United States," the Ford Motor Co. chairman declared Thursday after the firm's annual shareholders meeting.

"Why should we subsidize imports in the United States? It's ridiculous. I can't say it any harder than that."

At a news conference, the 59-year-old Ford:

—Ruled out another price increase on the No. 2 automaker's 1977 vehicles, but said he does not "see any way to avoid" hikes on 1978 models that come out this fall.

—Raised his earlier forecasts for total U.S. car and truck sales this year to a record 15 million new vehicles, the most bullish outlook in the industry.

—Announced the company's new German-built minicar, the Fiesta, is expected to go on sale in the United States in August, two months later than planned.

Carter's energy proposals include a tax on gas-guzzling cars and a rebate on fuel-efficient ones, retroactive to May 1. In the first year, the tax would begin on new cars getting less than 18 miles per gallon and reach a maximum $449 on those getting less than 13 m.p.g. The tax would become progressively tougher each year until it hit a maximum $2,488 in 1985.

Rebates of up to nearly $500 would be given to purchasers of fuel efficient models.

Carter has not said, however, whether imports would be included in the tax-rebate scheme. Most imports would qualify for hefty rebates.

Industry officials argue that if foreign cars are included in the plan, they will increase their price advantage over most domestic small cars and increase sales at the expense of American jobs.

Officials in Washington have indicated that imports might be included in the plan if foreign makers agree to limit the number of vehicles they ship to the country.

Imagination and ingenuity are the keys to the SHOEBOX FLOAT CONTEST

Area children in grades 3 through 6 are eligible to enter the Shoebox Float Contest.

Rules and entry forms are available at participating Downtown St. Joseph stores. Completed "Shoebox Floats" should be entered at a special collection point between 5:30-8:30 p.m., Monday evening, at the intersection of Broad St. and Lake Blvd.

Enter your float and look for it on display in downtown store windows during "Blossomweek in Downtown St. Joseph."

Youth Parade

Everybody loves a parade. Especially kids.

Approximately 2,000 of them in costumes, on floats or riding decorated tricycles or bikes, will parade through Downtown St. Joseph Thursday afternoon.

The annual Youth Parade begins at 3:30 p.m. at the intersection of State and Elm Streets and winds all through the Downtown St. Joseph area. Anyone — preschool through Junior High age — can enter.

Remember the Youth Parade — 3:30 p.m. Thursday in Downtown St. Joseph.

MAYOR'S BREAKFAST

Start your day right. Join the mayor of St. Joseph in honoring Miss St. Joseph, Miss Blossomtime and her court Friday morning.

The St. Joseph Business Association is again this year sponsoring the 7:00 a.m. Mayor's Breakfast at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn. With this breakfast, Miss Blossomtime and her court will begin the last day of their "Keys to the Cities" tour. During breakfast, St. Joseph Mayor Franklin Smith will present the key to the city to Miss St. Joseph.

Tickets are available from downtown St. Joseph merchants or through the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

AND THERE'S MORE

When you're downtown shopping, stop and take a look at the special "Memories of Blossomtime Past" window displays in many store windows. And be sure to look for your child's shoebox float on display in a downtown store window.

On Saturday, of course, is the Grand Floral Parade. Beginning at 1:00 p.m., the 100-unit extravaganza will begin in downtown St. Joseph and continue over the new bridge to Benton Harbor. The Grand Floral Parade has been sponsored by Blossomtime, Inc. nearly every year since 1924.

Takeover Bid Is Complex

FREMONT, Mich. (AP) — A federal judge and a state regulator will decide the fate of a merger which could create a food industry giant with annual sales topping $1 billion. A bitter battle is underway because Gerber Products Co. of Fremont, the nation's biggest baby food maker, wants to avoid being bought out by Anderson, Clayton & Co. of Houston, Tex. The fight is complicated further because the takeover bid is the first falling under a new Michigan law. "This is the very first one," said Hugh Maken, director of the Corporations and Securities Bureau in the state Department of Commerce. He said Michigan had no law governing corporate takeovers until last July 1. Anderson, Clayton's bitterly contested offer to purchase all 8.1 million shares of Gerber common stock at $40 each cannot begin until Maken's office approves. So far, that has not happened. Gerber has filed a federal court suit in Grand Rapids challenging the takeover bid. One ground is a claim the takeover could create a baby food monopoly in violation of federal law.

Besiegers 'Capture' Pets

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — Police looking for a gunman who fired several shots at his girlfriend surrounded a house and lobbed tear gas inside Thursday, but all they found were two cats and a dog. The gunman, David Vaughn, 24, was apprehended later Thursday on the Northern Michigan University campus, police said. He surrendered without incident and was lodged in the Marquette County jail, police said. But several hours earlier, officers from four police departments, armed with rifles, surrounded the home where Vaughn lived and talked over a bullhorn in an attempt to convince him to surrender. The incident attracted a crowd of about 500 spectators. Police lobbed three tear gas canisters inside the small, one-story dwelling on the city's near west side. The subsequent search netted only the animals. It was not known whether Vaughn was actually inside the house at the time, police said.

Pharmacies Can Advertise

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An attorney general's opinion has allowed pharmacies back in the advertising business despite objections from the state board which oversees druggists. Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said pharmacies can advertise price cuts, coupon bargains and premiums on prescription drugs. Kelley overturned a state Board of Pharmacy ruling which banned certain advertisements promoting prescription drugs. Such a ban, he said, was an unconstitutional infringement on free speech. Kelley said adequate safeguards exist to protect customers from abuses in the dispensing of prescription drugs. Carl Cross, executive secretary of the pharmacy board, asked Kelley to decide whether the board could enforce its 1976 rule against advertising which includes words such as "special," "this week only," and "limited offer." The U.S. Supreme Court has overturned bans on general advertising of prescription drug prices. State law, however, provides for the denial, suspension or revocation of a pharmacist's license for promotions which go beyond regular advertising of prices.

Ex-Detective On Trial

BEULAH, Mich. (AP) — Twelve prosecution witnesses, including state police fingerprint experts, took the stand Thursday in the Benzie County Circuit Court perjury trial of ex-police Detective Dale Rose. Rose, 47, is charged with perjury stemming from his testimony about fingerprints in at least four burglary cases. Two state police fingerprint experts testified latent prints taken by Rose during a Leelanau County burglary investigation were not those of the defendant in the case. Rose had submitted them as evidence against the man. The accused burglar, Gerald Smith, also took the witness stand and said he wore gloves during the 1975 break-in and therefore could not have left fingerprints. Smith eventually pleaded guilty to a reduced charge and served a ten-month jail term. The Benzie County trial is the first since charges were pressed against Rose in June 1976. Other counts are pending in Grand Traverse and Leelanau counties.

Towns Swapping Mayors

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The mayors of more than 400 Michigan cities and villages will swap jobs for a day Monday in an exchange program that has gone on for more than two decades. The exchange program is part of Michigan week, a program sponsored by the Greater Michigan foundation in Lansing. Its purpose is to let mayors see how their counterparts operate. The municipalities are divided into categories of up to 2,000 in population, 2,000 to 7,000 and more than 7,000. Expenses for the swap are paid by local service clubs, chambers of commerce, businesses and professional groups rather than by the cities themselves.

Police Find $6.6 Million Of Dead Widow's Cash

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — More than $6.6 million of Marjorie Jackson's fortune has been recovered — from her sprawling estate, from a poor, inner-city neighborhood and from the underwear of a man jailed on charges of killing the reclusive heiress, police say.

But police say they're just guessing how much money is still missing. They don't know how much cash the 66-year-old widow of a food chain magnate had withdrawn from banks and hidden in her home, how much she might have spent or how much might have been stolen in earlier robberies that she refused to report.

She was found shot to death in her home last week.

They say a man and a woman sought in the case may be carrying as much as $5 million, and another $1.4 million may still be in Indianapolis — part of it given away by killers overwhelmed by sudden wealth. Neighbors of Howard Willard, 38, of Mooresville, Ind., who

ERA Stand 'Heavy-Handed'

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The head of a group opposing the Equal Rights Amendment says the issue would be dead if it weren't for President Carter and his administration. Elaine Donnelly, Michigan chairwoman of the Stop E.R.A. Committee, said the amendment "would be dead right now if it were not for the heavy-handed interference of President Carter, his Executive Office employees and all the federal money used to promote the E.R.A." Mrs. Donnelly told a news conference "it's very unfair for the President to be lobbying for the Equal Rights Amendment, we feel this is a violation of Article V of the Constitution." Mrs. Donnelly also contended most of those involved in the International Women's Year Conference favor E.R.A. and women's liberation. She argued the Michigan Conference violates federal regulations requiring a balance of viewpoints on such federally sponsored advisory committees. She said a suit will be filed challenging the makeup of the Michigan group.

Convicted Slayer Sued

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Parents of an Ohio girl are suing the man who admitted killing her in Florida. The unusual U.S. District Court suit was filed in Grand Rapids by Lionel and Dorothy Greenbaum of Shaker Heights, Ohio. They sued Richard A. Woodrick Jr., 38, of Grand Rapids, under Florida's Wrongful Death Act. Last May, Woodrick pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the strangling of the Greenbaums' 16-year-old daughter, Linda. The girl was slain at Marcos Island, Fla., while her family and Woodrick's were vacationing there during the 1975 Christmas season. J. Douglas Peters of Detroit, attorney for the Greenbaums, said the Florida law allows recovery of damages by survivors of murder case victims. The suit claims the parents suffered emotionally and mentally by their daughter's death through "wrongdoing." The lawyer also said there is no attempt to hold Woodrick's parents liable. Woodrick's father, Richard A. Woodrick Sr., is the former president of the Grand Rapids-based D&W Food Stores chain. Young Woodrick is serving 15 years in a Florida prison on the murder sentence. The case was assigned to U.S. Dist. Court Judge Wendell Miles but no hearing date was set.

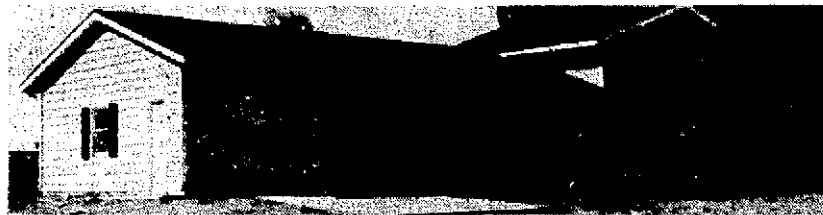

Despite 2-Year Cleanup....

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — Despite a two-year cleanup, tests at the Michigan Farm Bureau Services Battle Creek plant show low levels of PBB were found on some equipment through mid 1976. Those tests were introduced as evidence Thursday at the state's first PBB contamination trial.

Donald Shepard, the firm's former feed manager, said Farm Bureau never learned why all the cleaning failed to remove the PBB. He said holes even were drilled in floors to see if the chemical was coming through the concrete. Shepard has been testifying for five days, while nearly 100 results of tests for PBB at the plant or in its products have been placed in evidence. The trial is considering a damage suit against six firms filed by Roy Tacoma, a Missaukee County dairyman.

Growers Who Loan Out Help Need License

Farmers with migrant camps who let their workers assist a neighbor or other grower during a slack period for a 'fee' must register this year as a farm labor contractor, or crew leader.

Gordon Claucherty, area director in western and northern Michigan for the Wage-Hour division of the U.S. Department of Labor, said court rules had broadened the registration requirement to include this interpretation of the law.

He indicated that what constitutes a 'fee' is not clearly defined. He said some persons in the Wages and Hours division argue a fee is involved even if the farmer housing workers gets no rental or other payment while his workers work at the other farm. The reasoning is, Claucherty explained, that the housing grower gets a 'fee' just from the fact that crew remains continuously available for his future use.

This concept of a 'fee' possibly will have to be decided in the courts, he suggested.

It is clearly a fee if the second farmer reimburses the housing grower for providing the housing, Claucherty said.

He noted that the crew leader registration requirement is not confined to the interstate movement of migrant workers. Any person who furnishes resident farm workers who must travel more than 25 miles, even between points within Michigan, must register as a crew leader, he said. This requirement is not new.

Indiana's Peaches Are Light

The outlook for peach crops in neighboring Indiana, Illinois and Ohio is for less than a third of a crop this season, according to reports here from several sources.

Glen Antle, southwestern Michigan district marketing agent, said 20-below zero temperature hit the peach areas in the southern parts of these states last winter.

More recent reports from Extension Service and trade sources in those three states, Antle indicated, appear to add up to one-quarter to one-third of a crop remaining.

Ansel King, Clemson University Extension Service marketing specialist who operates a market information center that is widely known for its coverage of the national crop scene, agreed with Antle's summary of the winter damage in the three states.

While the three neighboring states are not important peach producers from a national standpoint, shortages of locally-grown peaches in those states quickly translate into buyers there turning to Michigan for extra supplies.

King also reported that Pennsylvania, West Virginia and New Jersey peaches have suffered "appreciable" damage from freezes. He said he has not narrowed the losses there, however, to percentages.

The southeastern states have good peach prospects, and the same holds for California, according to King.

Berrien-Cass Cherry District Meeting Called

Cherry growers in Berrien and Cass counties who want to discuss the crop outlook or related topics are invited to a meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Extension Service office in the Berrien county courthouse, St. Joseph.

The formal purpose of the meeting is to elect two delegates from the Berrien-Cass district to the annual meeting of the Michigan Association of Cherry Producers. The annual meeting is scheduled June 28 at Ludington. The delegates whose terms are expiring are Robert Kinney, St. Joseph, and Bill Gifford, Berrien Springs.

Harvey Beller, Berrien county horticultural agent, said the crop discussion will be on an informal basis, and likely will deal with frost effects on the crop.

Clarksville Is New Fruit Research Site

CLARKSVILLE — Land for the newest of Michigan State University's agricultural experiment stations — the Clarksville Horticultural Experiment Station — was bought near here in 1974.

The 440-acre Ionia County site is located in one of Michigan's orchard and vegetable growing areas at the Clarksville interchange on I-96, some 20 miles east of Grand Rapids.

A uniform soil type throughout the majority of the site provides excellent conditions for research. The station is located on a plateau at the top of a ridge so that air drainage will be good and there will be little climatic variation between plots.

The Clarksville station will become a focal point for outlying research studies on trees, fruits, small fruits, grapes, vegetables and ornamental flowers and shrubs.

Complete development of the site will allow research work in horticulture to be centralized. Also, the additional acreage will allow expansion of research projects presently restricted due to lack of field testing sites. Site improvement projects underway include the development of water supplies and distribution systems for irrigation.

A building complex has been proposed. It will provide space for machinery storage, fruit and vegetable handling, and research activities not possible at the main MSU campus. Two of the houses already on the property are being considered for renovation and use by permanent station staff.

Portions of the property not under development are being leased to local farmers on an annual basis.

Current site development plans call for the completion of irrigation and drainage systems this year, followed by the planting of major experimental plots in 1978.

Dr. Robert L. Andersen, MSU horticultural scientist, is serving as the coordinator of development for the Clarksville station.

14-FOOT CORN

Some cornstalks in California's rich inland delta farming region tower as high as 14 feet, reports National Geographic.

AS THE TWIG IS BENT: Gordon Nye (below) clips clothespin on apple tree planted this spring to start future scaffold limbs growing out at wide angle. In picture above, tree spreaders in third-year trees hold young limbs so they will grow out at 45-degree angle. Where correction is required in occasional two-year-old trees, Nye and his brothers, operators of Nye Orchards south of St. Joseph, use sharpened welding wire to hold growing branches in proper position. These and some discarded devices have been used on Nye farms since about 1967 to achieve almost ideal tree structure. Aids for training young trees were demonstrated at a growers meeting last evening at Nye Orchards. Similar demonstration is scheduled Monday evening at 7 at Doug Meachum farm northeast of Hartford. Early Mart For Plants Fizzles

Plans of Manager Al Braudo to open the Benton Harbor fruit market early for the sale of bedding plants and possibly fresh market asparagus were cancelled for lack of sufficient interest among growers, Braudo explained this week.

Bedding plant growers, he said, told him they sell their output chiefly by advance contracts.

While Braudo proposed the early market in late April primarily for bedding plants, he had also invited asparagus growers to use the occasion to sell fresh pick asparagus at the market. The strong price paid for processing asparagus and the series of frosts that curtailed harvest left few growers interested in selling fresh market spears on a wholesale basis, according to the market manager.

Van Buren Man Farmer Of Week

An area farmer, Clyde J. Hunt, of Route 2, Lawton, has been named Farmer of the Week for the week of May 9 in recognition of his contributions to Michigan agriculture.

The weekly award, which honors farmers in Michigan, is sponsored by the Michigan Farm Radio network and Farm Bureau Insurance group.

Hunt, who has been farming all his life, is a grain and hog farmer. He currently farms 250 acres in partnership with his two sons, Jim & Ronald.

Farm Weather Radio Coming

Continuous weather forecasts on a special National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) radio net will be inaugurated on the air in southwestern Michigan this summer. The starting date is not yet determined.

The continuous broadcast facility is to be put in operation from the Weather Service office at the South Bend airport, according to Cecil Van Den Brink, East Lansing, advisory agricultural meteorologist with the National Weather Service.

Weather forecasts, tailored for this area by the Detroit Weather Service office, will be aired for agricultural, marine, aviation and other special interests, he said.

Transmitters are already sending out continuous forecasts for agriculture from Traverse City, Grand Rapids, Flint, Detroit and Alpena.

The South Bend facility will broadcast on a frequency of 162.40 megahertz on the FM band. This is slightly above the commercial FM stations band.

Van Den Brink said moderate priced radios ($40 to $60) on the market today will receive the weather band frequencies. He suggested that persons interested in getting the radio forecasts should check to see that any radio they purchase will receive the weather band frequencies.

Some receivers, he noted, are equipped with a standby device. The radio can be left on standby and an alerting signal sent by the broadcasting station will activate the radio in the event of a severe weather forecast.

Berrien and Cass counties should be in the primary reception area for the South Bend broadcast, but much of Van Buren county will be in a fringe area requiring additional aerial equipment. The Grand Rapids broadcast covers Allegan county.

Meanwhile, recorded agricultural forecasts are available to area farmers by calling (816) 949-7380. The recorded forecast phone is not operational from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m., except during periods of critical weather. Persons who want to talk in person to a forecaster can call (816) 456-2268.

POPCORN

Last year, U.S. producers harvested popcorn on 6% fewer acres than in 1976, but came up with a record crop nonetheless. The 1976 popcorn harvest was 602 million pounds of shelled corn, 11% more than a year earlier and 57% over 1974.

Indian Parent Council To Meet

Parents of Indian students attending Benton Harbor area schools have been asked to at-gets for Indian student programs this year and next year.

bor, according to Miss Beth Fietz, home service worker for Indian education.

Parents will be asked to consider ways of using an unspent portion of the $14,636 budget for Indian programs this year. The money is provided by the federal government. Any portion of it not used by the end of the school year must be returned, according to Gladys Burks, coordinator of compensatory programs.

She said some money budgeted for Indian student classes this year was not used because the school district was unable to hire qualified native American instructors.

Mrs. Burks said the school district was recently notified that the federal government plans to provide 30 to 35 per cent more than the $10,681 Benton Harbor schools asked for in an application for the 1977-78 school year.

She said the notification came from Lee Antell, director of the division of local education agency assistance in the Office of Indian Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

As a consequence, the Indian Parent council must revise next year's budget to include the additional money, Mrs. Burks said.

She said there are 111 identified Indian students in the school district. To be considered a native American, a student must have at least one-sixteenth Indian blood, she said.

Schools become eligible for federal assistance for Indian student programs if they have 10 or more Indian students, she said.

Benton Fees Proposed...

People planning developments in Benton township that involve zoning and land use changes would have to pay fees, according to a proposal presented to the township planning commission last night. The proposal to charge fees for considering land use changes was sent to the planning commission by the township board of trustees. The planning commission, an advisory body to the board of trustees, last night sent the proposal to committee for further study.

Township Treasurer Ken Malkin, who appeared before the planning commission last night, said the board of trustees unanimously approved "the concept" of charging fees at its May 3 meeting and said the board wanted the planning commission to make a recommendation to the board on the exact amount of fees that would be charged. The fees would cover costs of engineering, legal and other services. The planning commission took no formal vote on the issue before sending it to committee, but several planning commissioners expressed opposition to the concept.

Planning Commission Chairman James Benson said he was opposed to the fees because it would deter some people from developing their land. "We have always held to the theory that every man should have his day to be heard," he said. "When you tell a man he has to have $200 to even begin doing anything with his property, you're eliminating the poorer man and only the mall-type developments are going to be built." "When you're in business, like the township is, you have to expect to put out some money to get business to move here," Planning Commissioner George Culverhouse said. "We're going to get more than that — 20, 30, maybe 100 times more than that — back in property taxes."

Culverhouse also asked why the proposal was coming before the planning commission, saying "Don't you think the supervisor and board of trustees have already made up their minds?"

Contacted last night, Supervisor Cathryn Sirk said that the rate for fees was a "basic guideline" which was open for discussion. "We made a decision on the concept," she said, "and now we want some input from people who are involved with developers to get some kind of a guideline to help defray costs when developers ask for these changes." Named to the committee to study the proposal were Planning Commissioners Charles Duncan, Nora Jefferson and Frank Graziano.

...Flea Market Vote Is 5 To 2

The Benton township planning commission voted 5 to 2 last night to recommend denial of a request by Fairplain Plaza to establish a flea market on 28 acres of plaza land just south of Goldblatt's department store.

Fairplain Plaza officials had asked the township planning commission for a peddler's license to build a 60 by 200-foot pole building on the site and hold flea markets on weekends selling such items as produce, arts and crafts and antiques.

Planning commissioners in opposition to granting the peddler's license said the flea market would cause litter problems and might upset development of the Pipestone Mall, which is proposed to be built in back of Fairplain Plaza, east of Plaza drive.

Voting to recommend denial of the request were Chairman James Benson and Frank Graziano, Charles Duncan, Robert Baker, and Daniel Cook.

Voting to recommend approval were Nora Jefferson and George Culverhouse. Absent last night were Earl Patterson and Laurel (Bud) Pig-gott.

Final decision is up to the township board of trustees.

Joseph Giannola, manager of Fairplain Plaza, and Wayne Senecal, general partner of Fairplain Development, had made the request to the township planning commission earlier. They said plaza stores and other merchants would bring their products to the flea market on weekends for display and sale and parking would be provided on the 28-acre site. The two men were not present last night.

"I think we're picking the wrong area for something like this," Graziano said. "It's in the hub of the area where we're trying to develop the new mall." The latest announced plans for the mall, to be built on a tract between Pipestone road, Napier avenue and I-94, call for construction to begin in the fall with stores opening in August, 1979.

Duncan said approval of the request would start a precedent. "Why is it that we suddenly get swamped with requests for the same thing. Last year, it was used-car licenses, and the year before that it was gas stations, and now it's flea markets. You can get anybody in, but you can't get anybody out."

The planning commission sent to committee another request for a peddler's license by Steve Kenney to operate a flea market in a vacant commercial building at 1005 Territorial.

James Ford, assistant township attorney, said last night that he has decided not to prosecute Robert Whitney Jr., who operates a truck repair shop at 4305 Highland avenue, for allegedly violating the township zoning ordinance.

Atty. Ford said Whitney has filed affidavits from adjacent property owners testifying that he has used the land for truck repairing before zoning ordinances were enacted.

The township planning commission voted in September to recommend denial of Whitney's request to rezone his property from agricultural to commercial so that he could operate the semi-truck repair shop. But Ford said Whitney continued to operate the shop under a "grandfather clause" claiming his family had used the land for the same purpose before township zoning ordinances were established. Ford also said under the grandfather clause, Whitney can't expand his business from the state it was in at the time township zoning ordinances were adopted.

Frost Kills Nixon Tree

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frost-bite has killed a tree planted in honor of former President Richard Nixon, says the director of Cincinnati's city parks.

The 20-year-old tree, a bald cypress planted after the 1968 election, has three frost cracks from the severe winter and was pronounced dead Thursday, parks director Fred Payne said.

The tree is part of the President's Grove, which was established at Eden Park in 1882. Nixon requested it be a cypress, according to Payne's office.

Three other trees have died in the grove, Payne said. They represented Presidents Franklin Roosevelt, Chester Arthur and William McKinley.

Welfare Queen's Sentence Draws Van Buren Echo

By STEVE McQUOWN
Assistant State Editor

PAW PAW — "It's really not enough," Van Buren County Prosecutor Ward S. Hamlin Jr. said today of the two to six year prison term handed Welfare Queen Linda Taylor in Chicago Thursday by an Illinois judge.

Hamlin said he will have to decide now whether to extradite Miss Taylor to Van Buren

SENTENCED: Linda Taylor, 49, the so-called Welfare Queen, was sentenced to serve two to six years in prison Thursday in Chicago. She was convicted March 17 of theft and perjury. She is shown on way to sentencing. (AP Wirephoto) ture was designed to accommodate a third floor, Ackley said.

Jail Plan Is Priced

The present jail has 80,000 square feet, Ackley said, and the new facility would have 130,000 square feet. New construction would add 70,000. He said the additions were designed so that the entire jail, if built, would use the same amount of energy that is presently being used for the smaller structure because of less windows, insulated glass, and more insulation throughout.

Jewell said the new jail might require as many as 20 more people to operate it, which commissioners said would add about $250,000 to the county's payroll.

Ackley noted that there was "no way" to cut out portions of the proposed additions required by state regulations, explaining that state approval is needed before the county could let bids.

Commissioner Richard Camp added a lighter side to the discussion, commenting: "We started our planning with two rows of barbed wire and a Doberman — and this is what we ended up with."

tax was designed to accommodate a third floor, Ackley said.

UAW Strikes Corunna Plant

CORUNNA, Mich. (AP) — The Strawline Manufacturing Co. has been hit by a United Auto Workers union strike following bargaining sessions failed to produce a new contract. Some 200 members of the Strawline unit of UAW Local 743 walked off their jobs at midnight Thursday when their three-year contract expired. The plant manufactures components for the recreational and modular-mobile housing industry. A plant spokesman says the walkout comes amid a backlog of orders as the industry recovers from a severe slump. Strawline is a subsidiary of Allied Thermal Corp. of Connecticut.

Taylor Teacher Accord Reached

TAYLOR, Mich. (AP) — Bargainers for teachers and the Taylor school board have reached agreement on a tentative new contract. All schools in Taylor were open Thursday for the first time in nine days. The bargainers asked their attorneys to look over the new pact. Terms were not announced until the lawyers could return the text for a ratification vote by the teachers. That was expected to take about two days. The accord came after an all-night bargaining session that stretched until 10:30 a.m. Teachers had reported sick with "blackboard flu," forcing different schools to close each day, to bring pressure for a new contract. The teachers had been working without a contract all year.

Seniors Fire Parting Shot

BOSTON (AP) — The seniors of South Boston High — the only students there who remember their school before it was integrated — today attended their last day of school. Police say some of them appeared to spearhead Thursday's racial flareup. "It was their parting shot," said police Deputy Supt. Daniel McDonald. In the first violence in several weeks, seven persons were injured inside the school Thursday and seven others were arrested in the streets outside. There were no disturbances reported at the city's other public schools. Although today is the last day for the seniors, other students have classes until June 24. For whites and blacks both, the school is a symbol of opposition to forced busing. It is still in the federal receivership imposed by U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity to remove it from control of the committee that runs the rest of the 75,000-student system.

county where she is wanted on a charge of absconding while on bond.

"I'll have to find out how early she could get out of prison in Illinois (for good behavior) and look at the evidence and also from an economic point of view before a decision is made to bring her back," Hamlin said.

Miss Taylor is wanted in Van Buren county under the name of Connie Green who allegedly failed to show up for a 1971 trial on a charge of welfare fraud.

State police said fingerprints have identified Linda Taylor and Connie Green as being the same person.

The absconding charge carries a maximum term of four years in prison.

The Associated Press reported Miss Taylor, 49, was sentenced Thursday in circuit court in Chicago to a term of two to six years in prison after her March 17 conviction of theft and perjury in connection with the fraudulent cashing of some $9,793 worth of welfare checks.

Maximum sentence was 20 years in prison.

But investigators in Illinois said there is no telling how much Miss Taylor bilked out of welfare agencies, according to AP.

The wire service quoted Joe Edelmann, who headed the Illinois Legislative Advisory Committee on Public Aid as saying that Miss Taylor could have cheated the state out of a lot more.

He said an investigation of one segment of Miss Taylor's alleged career from early 1973 to mid-1974 shows she used 14 aliases to obtain $150,000 for medical assistance, cash assistance and bonus cash food stamps, according to AP.

AP said Assistant State's Atty. James Piper who prosecuted the case before Judge Mark E. Jones appealed for a 20-year sentence for the woman because of her "cold, calculated plan" to defraud the state of thousands of dollars.

"Her scheme is an insult to the people. She thinks she is outside the law," AP quoted Piper as saying.

Tax Returns Still Climb

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State fuel tax revenues are still climbing, increasing by 5.8 per cent in the first quarter of 1977 compared with the same period last year, says the Michigan Highway Commission.

Collections on the sale of gasoline, diesel fuel and liquid petroleum gas in the January to March period totaled $100.1 million, up by $5.4 million from 1976, the commission announced Thursday.

License plate fees, based on vehicle weight, yielded $88.2 million, an increase of 5.7 per cent.

Revenues nearly made up for the decline in the previous quarter, the result of slow sales of 1977 license plate tabs, the commission said.

FIRE DESTROYS COTTAGE: South Haven firemen were hampered by narrow roads in getting to fire that destroyed summer cottage on west end of 20th avenue, South Haven township, yesterday afternoon. Cottage, owned by Kermit Coleman of Chicago, Ill., was engulfed in flames when it was discovered at 2 p.m., firemen reported. Cause was not determined and estimate of loss was not made pending contact with owner. Firemen later in day extinguished fire in storage room at Bohn Aluminum and Brass Co., plant 6, Aylworth avenue, South Haven. Damage was confined to boxes used for storage. (Tom Renner photo)

Boy, 15, Hurt When Hit By Car

A Benton township boy was reported in fair condition today in Merty hospital after he was struck by a car while crossing Napier avenue Thursday afternoon, township police reported.

David Allen Stakley, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stakley, 2068 East Empire, suffered multiple cuts and bruises and pelvic injuries when he was struck by an auto driven by Jettie Hill, 31, of 1440 Hurd avenue, police said.

The motorist told police she was driving west on Napier at 3 p.m. when she saw the boy in the path of her car. She said she swerved to avoid the boy but that he ran the same way she was swerving. No tickets were issued, police said.

St. Joseph township police reported a Stevensville woman required treatment for injuries after a two car collision on Nelson road Thursday. Cynthia Ann Witt, 21, 3220 Ridge road, was treated and released at Memorial hospital, police said, after her car and one driven by David M. Kraklaw, 35, 1901 Lascin drive, St. Joseph township, collided at the intersection of Nelson and Windsor drive at 6:15 p.m.

Police said Kraklaw suffered minor injuries in the accident but did not seek treatment. Cynthia Witt was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way, officers said.

Lawrence Board To Assist With Migrant Classes

LAWRENCE — The Lawrence school board last night approved an agreement to provide the Van Buren intermediate school district migrant program with buses and classrooms this summer for the migrant program.

Board action came after John Dominguez, director of the summer migrant program, told the board that about 260 students are expected in this year's program. That would be an increase of about 60 over last year's enrollment of 220.

He said that up to 65 cents per mile would be allowed for Lawrence school buses used to transport students to and from the schools. He also said that plans call for using 21 classrooms at a fee of $150 per room for a total of $3,150.

The board learned that a state fire marshal's inspection showed five classroom ceilings need to be painted with fire-retardant paint to meet state standards for pre-school youngsters. Cost of the work is estimated at $1,000 which will be paid by the state, Department of Migrant Education, according to Supt. Richard Stoll.

The summer migrant program is a federally funded program for education of youngsters of migrant farm workers who work on area farms.

In other action, the board approved a resolution supporting the establishment of a county school board association if there is sufficient support from other county school boards.

Mrs. Sharon Desimone, of the Lawrence parents group told the board open houses would be held at the elementary and high schools from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on May 17. The group will sponsor a smorgasbord on May 20 in the high school cafeteria from 5 to 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Desimone said the group has made $219 from recent fund raising activities and money from the group's various events will be used for some purchase for the school to be determined after school opens next fall.

Two candidates for the Van Buren intermediate school district board were at the meeting to ask for support. They were George Fusko, a Decatur high school biology teacher, and Mrs. George Sage, a Gobles housewife. School boards in the county elect representatives to the intermediate board at a meeting June 6.

Tire Flies Off Truck On I-94

No one was injured this morning when a spare tire flew off a truck on I-94 and shattered three large windows in the swimming pool wing at Howard Johnson's motel, M-139 and I-94, Berrien sheriff's officers reported.

Deputies said the pool was closed at the time. Had there been people in the pool area, it was probable they would have been cut by flying glass or hit by the tire, officers said.

Driver of the truck was Morley Haskin, of Battle Creek, driving an empty rig owned by Battle Creek Steel Fabricating company, deputies said. Cause of the incident was under investigation.

The accident occurred at 8:40 a.m. The pool opens at 9.

Illicit Trout Sale Scheme Charged

STURGEON BAY, Wis. (AP) — Four commercial fishermen have been taken into custody and more arrests were expected in what investigators call a scheme to peddle Great Lakes trout illegally, authorities reported Thursday.

Thomas Reynolds, district attorney of Door County, said the crackdown on what appears to have been a multi-million-dollar nationwide business was made sooner than investigators had intended because a Natural Resources Department informant had shared his information with news media.

Charles Olson, DNR Lake Michigan enforcement coordinator, said raids that began Wednesday had been on the drawing boards already, however.

Three commercial fishermen taken into custody Wednesday in the Jackson and Baileys Harbor area are to appear in Door County Court May 23, officials said. A fourth fisherman was apprehended Thursday, they said.

John Wilbur, DNR game warden, said charges include possessing, transporting and intending to sell lake trout taken during a closed season.

Because of hazardous levels of PCBs — polychlorinated biphenyls, the tainted trout fish flesh is considered unfit for human consumption.

Furthermore, the DNR has banned commercial fishing of lake trout in Lake Michigan for more than a decade, hoping the fish can redevelop its depleted population.

Lansing Tour Caps Awards For Students

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Nineteen Berrien junior high school students toured the state capitol and the Michigan State Police Academy in Lansing yesterday after receiving youth citizenship awards.

The tour and the citizenship awards were sponsored by the Benton Harbor State Police Post citizens community services resource committee, according to Lt. Carl Hulander, commander of the Benton Harbor post.

Hulander said the committee sponsored the awards to promote youth citizenship. He said 20 public and parochial schools in the 10 northern townships in Berrien county nominated the students. One student was unable to attend.

The students, joined by members of the citizens committee and four wives of Benton Harbor post troopers, made their first stop at the state troopers' training school, Lansing.

They watched as the current training class of 64 recruits — including 17 women — ate lunch in a military disciplined manner. They also saw where recruits work out in a new gym and the indoor firing range.

Next came a tour of the capitol and a meeting with southwestern Michigan members of the legislature. They met with State Reps. Harry Gast Jr., Ray C. Mittan and Bela E. Kennedy. They also met State Sen. Charles O. Zollar.

Gast made arrangements for the party of 36 people to be Unable to attend the trip was Billy Joe Tanner, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tanner Jr., 407 Packard, Benton Harbor, from Fairplain junior high school.

Committee members who attended were Cathryn Sirk and Bernice Tretheway, supervisors of Benton and Lincoln townships; and W.J. Banyon, publisher of The Herald-Palladium; from the Benton Harbor post committee. Although the New Buffalo post is closed, its committee is still active. Members from that committee attending the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ward, of Harbert; Mrs. Dorothy Shook, of Three Oaks; and Mrs. Arlene Cotter, of Bridgman.

Phone Book Corrections

General Telephone customers in the communities of Cassopolis, Decatur, Dowagiac, Edwardsburg, Sister Lakes, Union and Vandalia who want to make corrections or additions to the telephone directory must contact the company's service office in Dowagiac before Friday, May 27, Les Moench, division manager for the company, said today. Most changes can be handled by telephone. A personal visit usually is not required, he said. There may be a nominal "records change" charge for revisions made to white page listings.

Berrien Springs Will Vote On 3-Mill Renewal

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs school board last night voted to place a three-mill property tax renewal levy on the annual school election ballot June 13.

The request is for millage that expired with the last tax collection and is for one year. The three mills would raise approximately $148,000 in local taxes and $152,000 in state aid. The district's tentative 1977-78 operating budget is $4.1 million. In other areas, the board also approved pay hikes for the district's non-certified personnel amounting to $36,634. The increases were based on the district's new merit evaluation system and will be effective July 1.

The new rates for 1977-78 with the current rates in parentheses, according to Supt. Jon Schuster, are: secretaries, $2.50-$5.50 ($2.50-$5.25); maintenance, $3.20-$4.65 ($3.20-$4.40); custodians, $3.20-$4.21 ($3.20-$4.30); cooks, $2.60-$3.25 ($2.50-$2.95); instructional aides, $2.30-$5.25 ($2-$5); and bus drivers, $3.56-$5.45 ($3.75-$5.30).

The board was told that parents or guardians who wish their children to attend public schools in a district other than the one where they live must first get permission from the school board of their home district. Schuster said parents must apply to their home school board by June 1, if they wish their children to attend as tuition students in 1977-78 at a public school out of their home district. According to the guidelines,

Schuster said, acceptable reasons for changing districts include economic hardships, nearness to school, curriculum, and transportation problems. The ruling does not affect students who have been attending schools out of their district for at least two years or for students who wish to attend private or parochial schools, Schuster said.

Robert Fein, middle school principal, reported that a committee on interscholastic sports in the middle school has decided that the major emphasis of such activities should be on maximum participation. Other goals will be skill building, precise organization, limited competition and experience.

To implement these goals the committee proposes a fifth quarter of play in football, and the organization of "A" and "B" teams in basketball, Fein said.

The curriculum senate recommended that the present six-period day in the high school not be changed to a seven-period day in 1977-78. Objections to the change included shorter instruction periods (reduced from 55 minutes to 48 minutes), additional class preparations each day for the teachers, and conflicts in shared time scheduling with other schools.

Nominated to the parents advisory committee of the Intermediate School district were Mrs. Judy Echinan, Mrs. Jean Smith and Marlene Kampe. The board approved a

South Haven Water Pressure May Dip

By TOM RENNER

South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Water pressure in parts of the city of South Haven may be lower during the next two weeks due to the draining of a million gallon storage tank in the industrial park, according to City Manager Paul Sharon.

Sharon said the tank, located at Lovejoy and Kalamazoo streets, will undergo an inside and outside paint job beginning Monday.

"The entire city south of Michigan avenue is expected to be affected. Sharon noted that all customers will have an adequate water supply throughout the period.

The tower is to be painted a color blue close to that of blueberries as a public relations gesture toward the city's claim of being "The Blueberry Capital of the World."

Dave Stockman Slated To Talk

SOUTH HAVEN — Congressman David Stockman will be the featured speaker at a South Haven Chamber of Commerce "Early Bird" breakfast Monday beginning at 7 a.m. at Holly's Suburban restaurant.

Reservation should be made with the Chamber office. Tickets are $2 per person.

Advice To Ali: Quit While The Quitting's Good

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — Hey, Muhammad Ali, wherever you are, were you looking Wednesday night?

Did a lump come in your throat and did you feel a sudden cold chill when Ken Norton came out of his corner like a whirlwind and demolished young Duane Bobick in 38 seconds?

Shades of Dempsey against Firpo, Louis against Schmeling, Marcano against Walcott. You had to look quickly or you missed it.

Now along Bash Boulevard they're saying you have another date — your fourth — with this man in Rio de Janeiro next September. Take some advice from an old friend and a longtime admirer: Skip it. Tell 'em you have a crick in the back. Take a trip. Get lost. Say your loving mother begged you never to in-duge in violence again.

Anything. Just don't go near Ken Norton until his fists have been defused or he's had a couple of years in Hollywood playing next to movie starlets. Avoid him as you would a hand grenade with the pin pulled out.

Quit while the quitting's good. Don't — with the whole world watching — wind up flat on your back. Let us remember Ali as king of the ring, unmarked, unstoppered, standing there, yelling, "I am the greatest!"

You've taken us down an exciting road.

We remember you as the naive, big-eyed kid from Louisville, Cassius Clay, who won the light-heavy gold medal in the 1960 Olympics at Rome. We saw them nurture you through your first pro fights. We endured, even occasionally laughed at, your ridiculous poems.

We were at Miami Beach in 1964 when, as an underwhelming underdog, you threw that pre-fight tantrum misinterpreted as panic and wrested the world championship from a frightening creature named Liston.

Then came the stormy times — the conversion to Islam, the Black Muslim movement and the new name: Muhammad Ali. The refusal to take the step for military service. It was you against the government and the nation's patriots. You won.

Your title was taken away unjustly. Three and a half years of ring rust. "Ali can never come back," the guys in the sweaty gyms said.

They reckoned without qualities of resilience that defy imagination. You came back. That, Ali, is when you should have recognized the signal and quit.

They say you're fighting again because you need the money. You've grossed $30 million since Zaire, and you're busted.

Aw, come on.

"Truth is," said a close associate, "Ali is cash poor. He's got property all over the place — the retreat at Deer Lake in Pennsylvania, the camp in Michigan (Berrien Springs), Al Capone's old place and a 50-room mansion in Chicago. But no liquid assets."

Now you're 35, soft and war weary. Norton, four years younger, broke your jaw in the first fight and slapped you around in the last two.

Take this warning from your old adversary, Smokin' Joe: "Norton beat him three times already. Next time he'll kill him."

Braves Snap Loss String

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

No, the Atlanta Braves didn't win the National League pennant Thursday. Yes, that was champagne in the Braves' dressing room after the game.

The bubbly was provided by Jeff Burroughs after the Braves snapped a 17-game losing streak by defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-1.

Let's play again right now. We're hot," Burroughs said.

Pitcher Max Leon drove in three runs and combined with reliever Rich Camp for a four-hitter, snapping Pittsburgh's 11-game winning string.

In other NL games Thursday, St. Louis crushed Cincinnati 10-1, Los Angeles defeated Montreal 8-2, Philadelphia blanked San Francisco 3-0 and San Diego topped the New York Mets 5-2.

The Braves, who had not won since April 22, scored in the third inning when Leon, 1-1, hit a sacrifice fly. Loser Bruce Kison, 3-2, yielded a run-scoring double to Brian Asselstine in the fourth inning, then the Braves put the game away with four runs in the eighth, two runs scoring on a single by Leon.

Atlanta was playing under its third manager in three games. Third base coach Vern Benson took over when league President Chub Feeney ordered Braves owner Ted Turner to give up his one-day job of managing the team. Turner gave regular Manager Dave Bristol a 10-day leave of absence after the Braves had lost 16 in a row.

John D'Acquisto, Buddy Schultz and Al Hrabosky

Tony Scott, Don Kessinger and Keith Hernandez drove in two runs each as St. Louis routed Cincinnati. The Reds' lone hit was a two-out, eighth-inning double by Ken Griffey.

Mike Tyson and Bake teamed for a one-hitter while McBride drove in Cardinals runs in the fourth, then St. Louis erupted for six runs in the sixth inning, two on Kessinger's bad-hop double and two on a single by Scott. Hernandez singled for two runs in the eighth.

Dave Lopes and Reggie Smith slammed first-inning home runs, helping right-hander Don Sutton move into sole possession of second place on the all-time Dodgers' winning list with a victory over Montreal. Sutton, who needed last-inning help from reliever Mike Garman, increased his season mark to 5-0 and earned his 181st career victory. Only Don Drysdale, who won 209 games, tops Sutton among Dodgers pitchers.

A three-hitter by right-hander Larry Christenson gave Philadelphia its victory over San Francisco. Christenson, 3-3, outpitched Giants right-hander John Montefusco, 2-5, who suffered his fourth straight setback. Montefusco has had a total of three runs scored for him in the four games.

Greg Luzinski, Rich Hebner and Mike Schmidt drove in the Phillies' runs.

San Diego's Tom Griffin, 3-1, hurled seven strong innings and smashed a homer, leading the Padres over the Mets. Griffin allowed only three hits before being relieved by Rollie Fingers after giving up a two-run homer to John Milner in the eighth.

Griffin's seventh-inning homer off Jerry Koosman, 2-4, gave San Diego a 2-0 lead. The Padres broke open the game with three runs in the eighth on RBI singles by Doug Rader and Mike Champion and a Mets error.

Ali Wants Norton To Take On Young

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ken Norton is one step removed from the top of the boxing world. It's a step the man on top, Muhammad Ali, does not seem particularly anxious for Norton to take.

"I'll believe it when I see it," said Norton about a fourth fight with Ali at a news conference, the day after his shocking 38-second win Wednesday night over Duane Bobick, a victory that solidified his No. 1 ranking by the World Boxing Association and World Boxing Council.

"Yeah, I saw the annihilation," Ali said at Landover, Md., where he is training for Monday night's title defense against Alfredo Evangelista.

"You've got two fellows out there that people believe have a chance at beating me — Jimmy Young and Norton. So I want them to fight each other and I'll fight the better one of them. Then I CAN RETIRE. If I fight Norton, then they will holler 'Jimmy Young, Jimmy Young.' I'm 35-years-old now and it's hard to get up and it would be a couple of years before I could wipe these two guys out."

Ali lost a 12-round decision to Norton and suffered a broken jaw in 1973 and then beat him twice. The last time was last Sept. 28 in Yankee Stadium, when Ali won a disputed but unanimous decision over Norton in a title fight. In his meeting with Young last year, Ali also scored a disputed but unanimous decision.

Although Young, ranked No. 2

by the WBA and WBC, upset George Foreman, who announced his retirement last Saturday, a fourth Norton-Ali fight probably would be boxing's best big-money draw in fight of Norton's demolition job on the previously unbeaten Bobick in Madison Square Garden.

One of those seeking an Ali-Norton fight for a purse of $14.25 million in the fall in Rio de Janeiro is Ben Thompson, a Californian who is a mystery man in the fight game.

Norton's manager, Bob Biron, when asked what he knew of Thompson, said, "Not very much. Herbert said he's a charming fellow."

What Herbert Muhammad, Ali's manager, said Thursday was that the agreement he had with Thompson "...ran out some time ago. At the present time we do not have a deal."

Charles Lomax, Herbert Muhammad's attorney, said that Thompson forfeited $100,000, paid when the deal originated, when he failed to make a $800,000 payment about April 2. Thompson has said Ali's purse would be $12 million. Most of the money was to come from the Government of Brazil and the sale of rights for American home television.

Biron said he has received $20,000 from Thompson and that his deal expires May 28 if all of Norton's $2.25 million purse is not put up.

However, Bill Caplan, a spokesman for Thompson said that Lomax met with Thompson's attorney, Joe Agapay of Los Angeles, Thursday morning and that they and a television network executive and, possibly, Herbert Muhammad, were to meet in Washington Thursday night.

NAMATH IS A RAM: Joe Namath, former quarterback for the New York Jets in the National Football League, holds a Los Angeles Rams football helmet Thursday at a news conference where it was announced that Namath had become a member of the Los Angeles Rams. Namath Inks Pact With Los Angeles

By KEN PETERS
AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'm here to play football," Joe Namath said simply after he'd signed a contract with the Los Angeles Rams.

"Sure, I'm interested in getting more involved in the movies and television, but as everybody who's dealt with me knows, football comes first."

Namath, the colorful and sometimes controversial quarterback who'd spent his 12 professional football seasons with the New York Jets, agreed to terms with Los Angeles Thursday. His move from Broadway to the Sunset Strip was accompanied by fanfare hardly expected for the signing of a 34-year-old third-string quarterback with gimpy knees.

At a jammed press conference in a plush Beverly Hills hotel, Namath said he was pleased to be with the Rams, a preference he'd made known as early as 1975.

"Every player dreams of being part of an organization like the Rams," he said. "They have a very high caliber of players, fine personnel. I am grateful to Mr. Rosenbloom and the Rams organization for bringing me here. I am also grateful to the New York Jets. They were good to me while I was there."

Namath was the most feared passer in the NFL in the late 1960s, but knee injuries and the Jets' flagging fortunes in recent years made him generally ineffective.

The Rams got the chance to sign Namath when the Jets failed to pick up his contract, worth nearly $500,000 annually, and he became a free agent April 1. Namath's attorney, Jimmy Walsh, had been negotiating with Los Angeles since that time. Because the Rams signed him as a free agent, they did not have to compensate the Jets.

Namath's contract with the Rams was believed to be worth between $150,000 and $200,000 a year, but team officials would not divulge the terms. The Rams said earlier, however, they would go no higher than $200,000 a year.

St. Joseph Hosting State Tournament

Legion Baseball Aug. 17-21

This summer's state American Legion baseball tournament will be hosted by St. Joseph Post 163.

State legion representative Al Geisler of Battle Creek was in the twin cities this week to have local officials sign contracts for the Aug. 17-21 event.

The state tourney on the Riverview, Eaton and Dickinson diamonds will be making its first appearance in the twin cities, although a national American Legion regional event was held at Edgewater Park back in 1955.

The tournament will be a six-team, double elimination affair. The St. Joe Post 163 team, managed by Mike Wyngarden, is automatically seeded into the tourney as the host team. The other five teams will be winners of zone tournaments at Hamtramck, Coldwater, Portland, Midland and Menominee.

There is a possibility of two area teams being in the tourney.

Members of the Blue-Gray League — except St. Joe Post 163 — will try to qualify for state through pre-district, district and zone tournaments.

Ed Ross is serving as chairman of the state tournament. He is being helped by Post 163 commander Bob Crossman, who is also chairman of the post's baseball committee.

Players in the tournament will be housed at an Andrew University dormitory at Berrien Springs. Post 163 is also responsible for transportation and meals, and it is trying to cover expenses through sales of advertisements in a souvenir tournament program. Tournament tickets will cost $1 per game or $5 for all games.

The state tournament will be kicked off with a banquet on Wednesday, Aug. 17, at a site still undetermined. Special guests are expected to include Bob Winters, John Tucker and Crossman....the Post 163 managers before Wyngarden took over.

Action starts Thursday on all three diamonds and continues through Sunday, Aug. 21. The title tilt will be on the Riverview field.

The state champion will advance to the midwest regional tournament at Bellwood, Ill. The national tourney will follow that at Manchester, N.H.

Geisler said St. Joe was awarded the state tournament because of the good facilities available and as a reward for the fine baseball program provided by Post 163 and the Blue-Gray League.

SIGNING STATE CONTRACT: A contract awarding this summer's state American Legion baseball tournament to the twin cities was signed this week. On hand for the event were (left-right) St. Joseph Post 163 baseball manager Mike Wyngarden, Post 163 commander Bob Crossman, state American Legion representative Al Geisler of Battle Creek and tournament chairman Ed Ross. Post 163 will be the host team for the Aug. 17-21 event on the Riverview, Eaton and Dickinson diamonds. (Staff photo)

Former Lancers GVSC Rowers

Terry Lauver and Mark Root are rarities among athletes in Michigan....they're rowers.

There are just three colleges in the state which have the sport of crew and the Lakeshore high school graduates are members of one team at Grand Valley State Colleges in Allendale.

Lauver and Root, both juniors, give power to the eight-man GVSC shell with their good size. Lauver, who participated in football, basketball and track at Lakeshore, goes 6-3 and 185 pounds. Root, a prep football player, wrestler and trackster, is 6-1 and 190 pounds.

Coach Paul Springer's varsity oarsmen are 8-1 this season, losing only to Marietta, Ohio, which Springer calls the No. 1 small college team in the nation. The Lakers have decisions over the University of Chicago, Michigan State and Notre Dame.

Upcoming for Grand Valley on May 28 is the 10th annual State of Michigan Rowing Championships which the Lakers traditionally host. The meet at Riverside Park in Grand Rapids will also include Michigan State, Michigan and the University of Chicago.

Men's crew is Grand Valley's oldest sport. It was organized 14 years ago and has been under Springer's directorship for three seasons.

Baseball Clinic

A baseball clinic for area managers and coaches will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. on the Lakeshore baseball diamond.

Lancer baseball coach Jim Sanford, his staff and players will instruct and demonstrate baseball fundamentals. The clinic is sponsored by the Lakeshore Youth Baseball and Softball Association.

Beach Volleyball At South Haven

SOUTH HAVEN — Beach volleyball "California style" will be played here over two weekends in June.

Men's doubles and quadruples and mixed doubles will be featured June 19-20 and women's doubles and quadruples will be held June 25-26.

Each event will be single elimination, with each match being the best two out of three in 11-point games.

Entries in the South Haven tournament are due by June 1, and spots for the 64 women's doubles teams, 32 women's quadruple teams, 32 men's doubles teams, 32 mixed doubles teams and 16 men's quadruple squads will be filled on a first come basis.

The entry fee is $5 per doubles team and $8 per quadruple team. The entry fee, along with names, addresses and phone numbers of players, should be sent to: South Haven Volleyball, 779 Phoenix St., South Haven, Mich. 49090.

Beach volleyball, which is probably most popular in California, is similar to the power volleyball played at the high school, college and AAU levels. Both games use the same rules.

LaRoche Traded

CLEVELAND — The Cleveland Indians traded ace relief pitcher Dave LaRoche to the California Angels Wednesday.

Ziebart Standout In Spring Game

St. Joseph's Dave Ziebart, the No. 1 quarterback at the Air Force Academy, hit 10 of 16 passes — without an interception — for 127 yards in the Blue-Silver Game last Friday which wrapped up the Falcons' spring football practice.

The sophomore-to-be, who took over Air Force's signal calling midway through last season, had one TD pass — a 10-yarder — and ran for another touchdown as the first string Blue team posted a 36-8 victory.

The 6-3, 190-pounder played the last three quarters with a sprained toe and ended up with 10 yards rushing in nine carries, including sacks. His longest run was a 15-yard gainer and his longest pass covered 40 yards to flanker Steve Hoog. The Blue squad ended up with 459 yards in total offense.

Four Tournaments At Hills

Lake Michigan Golf Hills will host four tournaments next month, according to Steve Kulich, head golf pro.

Qualifying for the Chevrolet-PGA National Junior tourney will take place June 27 at Golf Hills. The event, for boys and girls, has age divisions of 12-14 and 15-17. Entry fee is $1, with the entry deadline June 6.

Applications are available at the golf course.

Golf Hills will conduct its own junior open June 23 and 24. The event is open to boys and girls with age divisions of 12-15 and 16-21. There will be door prizes and a practice round. Entry fee is $20.

Opening Day On Saturday

Opening ceremonies for the Benton Heights' Athletic Association baseball season will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at Butler Field.

Guest speakers will be Benton township supervisor Catherine Sirk and the Rev. Charles Long of the Benton Heights Church of God. Frank Francis, a former manager in the league, will throw out the first ball.

The association's new Pony League team, the Pirates, and their manager, Leo Graham, will be introduced.

McLaughlin Hard Luck Loser To Bucks Again

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

BUCHANAN — Larry McLaughlin must be wondering what it takes to beat Buchanan's baseball team.

For the third time in two years the Dowagiac pitching ace came up with a brilliant mound effort against the Bucks Thursday afternoon. And for the third time the southpaw came back empty-handed.

Four Chieftain errors in the ninth inning made a 1-0 loser out of McLaughlin. And one has to feel sorry for the junior. In three starts against Buchanan during his two-year career, McLaughlin's teammates have scored just one run in his behalf.

McLaughlin lost a two-hitter 2-1 earlier this season to Kevin Vanderbush and the Bucks. And last year he was beaten 3-0 when Kevin's brother Walt pitched a no-hitter.

In other Blossomland action Thursday, River Valley moved another step closer to the league title with a 7-4 victory over Edwardsburg. Lakeshore eliminated Coloma from the title chase 1-0 and Brandywine clipped Cassopolis 7-4.

McLaughlin struck out 12 and walked but two in the heart-breaking effort. And Chieftain coach Dean Hagen had nothing but praise for his mound star.

"Larry pitched a great game," Hagen said. "It was a tough one to lose. Defensive lapses hurt us. And they've hurt us all year.

"He's a helluva pitcher. He mixes his pitches up well. If he gets two strikes on a batter right away, he'll work for a corner. He won't try to burn one right down the middle for that quick third strike.

"Larry also has a good curveball and he's a smart pitcher. Kim Mulder (catcher) really helps him a lot behind the plate. The two of them work well together."

McLaughlin allowed just four hits, none coming until Rick Layher's single with two out in the fifth.

Though just a junior, McLaughlin impresses Hagen with his coolness under pressure.

"He just doesn't get shook up," he explained. "Larry is not a cocky kid. You can tell him anything and he'll listen to you. He's really an intelligent kid."

Though saddled with a 3-2 record, McLaughlin's other statistics are impressive. In 45 two-third innings, the standout has given up just 23 hits. McLaughlin has struck out 67 batters and amazingly walked just eight. Thursday's effort lowered his earned run average to a microscopic 0.47.

While Dowagiac fell out of the title picture at 7-5 in league play, two-time defending champion Buchanan kept its slim hopes alive with a 6-4 Blossomland mark. The Bucks have won six straight for an 8-8 overall slate.

A Vanderbush again figured in the setback for McLaughlin. Kevin Vanderbush pitched the first seven innings for the Bucks, giving up just four hits. Larry Ott and Alan Ward each hurled an inning with Ward picking up the victory.

Despite early season problems, Buchanan coach Bob Storm never gave up on his young team. And the confidence is paying off.

"We're just getting things our way now," Storm said. "Overall I think we've played pretty consistent. We're just getting the breaks now."

"It was a great game for us to win and a tough one for them to lose. It's the type of game we were losing earlier in the year. We've lost five games by one run."

River Valley scored seven runs in the first two innings and held on against the Eddies. Dave Zebell got the win for the Mustangs, now 9-1, with relief help from Dennis Busse.

Howie Jackson slammed a triple and a single for the winners. Lance Stevenson belted a double and a single for Edwardsburg, now 3-8.

Doug Thompson's four-hitter helped Lakeshore (6-5) nip Coloma (6-5). Don Arent was the tough loser for the Comets.

The Lancers scored the game's only run in the seventh as Thompson walked, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Scott Smikle's single.

Tim Rzepka bopped out a home run and two singles and Tom Stephens added a double and two singles in Brandywine's win. The Bobcats (4-8) scored seven runs in the first two innings and were never headed.

NY Swept By Seattle

Tiger Bats Come Alive For Rozema

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was difficult to tell which was the expansion team as the Seattle Mariners recorded their first-ever series sweep Thursday night ... over the New York Yankees, no less.

"We just played bad and they played well," Yankees Manager Billy Martin explained after his defending American League champions fumbled their way through an 8-6 defeat at the hands of the 33-game-old Mariners on the heels of a 5-2 setback Wednesday night.

In the only other AL games, the Texas Rangers blanked the Kansas City Royals 2-0, the California Angels overtook the Baltimore Orioles 7-5 and the Detroit Tigers swamped the Milwaukee Brewers 9-1.

The Yankees committed five errors — five more than the Mariners — including three on consecutive ground balls in the third inning, and handed Seattle six unearned runs while the expansionists ran the bases daringly, stealing three bases.

In the first inning, Seattle's Dan Meyer and Bill Stein hit consecutive balls off Catfish Hunter into the stands. The hits were called home runs and, coming in the wake of a two-out error by third baseman Graig Nettles, gave the Mariners a 3-1 lead.

A throwing error by catcher Thurman Munson helped set up a Seattle run in the second. In the third Ron Guidry relieved Hunter with one out, runners on first and second and the Mariners ahead 5-2.

Guidry could only watch helplessly as first baseman Chris Chambliss, second baseman Willie Randolph and Chambliss again took turns miffing three straight ground balls which easily could have gotten the Yankees out of the inning but resulted instead in three more Seattle runs.

Gaylord Perry ended a personal four game losing streak with a four-hitter. The two teams, who fought a 20-minute brawl Saturday night at Texas, showed no inclination to renewed violence. The Rangers nicked Dennis Leonard for a run in the first inning on singles by Bert Campaneris, Willie Horton and Dave May. Jim Sundberg led off the fourth with an infield hit, took second on a wild pitch and scored on Claudell Washington's double.

Bobby Grich's two-run single capped a five-run eighth-inning rally. Jim Palmer took a 5-2 lead into the eighth but walked Dan Briggs, the first batter. After Gil Flores singled and was forced at second, consecutive singles by Dave Chalk and Joe Rudi made the score 8-4 and chased Palmer.

Bobby Bonds, who had a solo home run, another single and scored three times, greeted Fred Holdsworth with a game-tying single and the runners moved up on an error by centerfielder Larry Harlow. Grich then delivered his two-run single.

Solo homers by Ron LeFlore and Steve Kemp backed unbeaten rookie Dave Rozema's five-hit pitching. LeFlore, Jason Thompson and Mark Wagner knocked in two runs apiece. The victory was especially sweet for Rozema, 3-0, who beat the Brewers with a seven-hitter last Saturday, then heard Milwaukee Manager Alex Grammas say, "He's got about as little of a fast ball as there is in the league."

The Tigers took command to stay by scoring three times in the second inning with help of only one hit.

They filled the bases with none out on a hit batsman, a walk and loser Bill Travers' error as he bobbled Milt May's sacrifice bunt. Phil Mankowski drove in one run with a bloop single, and two more scored on infield outs by Wagner and LeFlore.

LeFlore's third homer made it 4-0 in the fifth. The Brewers got one back in their half on Don Money's second homer, but Kemp made it 5-1 an inning later with his fifth homer, a blast into the center-field bleachers.

Girls Softball

LANCERS TRIP COMETS

Mary Wilkie drove in four runs with three hits as Lakeshore's girls softball team ripped Coloma 25-3 in a Blossomland game Thursday.

Joan Wilkie added three singles and Lisa Mammuna drove in three runs with a pair of hits for the Lancers, now 7-3 in league play and 13-5 overall.

Val Vincent picked up the pitching victory in relief.

NILES IN SHUTOUT

Debbie Noble pitched a four-hitter to lift Niles past Battle Creek Lakewood 11-0.

Marie Merritt hit a three-run homer for the winners, now 7-2 in Big Seven play and 8-3 overall.

CHIEFTAINS WIN BIG

Laura Randerer pitched a three-hitter in Dowagiac's easy 27-5 victory over Buchanan.

Cindy Steele blasted five hits, including three home runs for the Chieftains. Lynn Granger added four hits. Granger, Randerer and Debbie Dorgan also clouted round-trippers.

FENNIVILLE BATS BOOMING

Fenniville blasted out an incredible 37 hits in outlasting Saugatuck 33-26. The Blackhawks scored in every inning and were never in trouble after tallying 10 runs in the second.

Fenniville, now 4-6, was led by Pat McCarty who slammed out six hits, including a home run and two doubles. Pat Tillery added three triples, a double and a single and Becky Babbitt had a double and four singles.

BORCATS TRIP CASS

Brandywine scored 13 runs in the third inning and coasted past Cassopolis 28-16. Cathy Simmons drove in four runs with a home run, a double and a single for the Bobcats, now 12-3.

Teresa Duncan added a triple and two singles and Deana Burrow and Becky Clarke also had three hits apiece.

Lori Hartline belted two home runs and a single and drove in seven runs for the Rangers, now 0-12. Betty Vendress and Sheryl MacNeal also cracked homers.

TIGERS WIN EIGHTH

Benton Harbor scored 10 runs in the first inning and were never headed in ripping Grand Haven 22-11. Lois Buchanan slammed a grand slam homer for the winners, now 8-4.

Winning pitcher Dorothy Logan, Cindy King and Cindy Lark each plated three runs with a pair of hits.

MUSTANGS WIN TWO

River Valley clinched at least a tie for the Blossomland crown as the Mustangs downed Edwardsburg twice 16-6 and 12-4 on the Eddies' field.

Val Vance got both wins for River Valley, 15-1 overall and 12-0 in the league. The Mustangs can gain the crown outright with one more win.

Michelle Backus had a triple, three singles and drove in three runs in the first game which was a resumption of a game suspended by rain on April 21. Janice Zabel added two hits.

In the second game, Wendy Schwark had a single and double. Marge Caid drove in a pair of runs with two singles and Zabeli smacked two safeties.

Tammy Herremanns had two singles and Sue Catto a triple for the Eddies, 8-5 overall and 6-5 in the league. Gloria Henke was the first-game losing hurler and Dixie Casey was tagged with the second-game loss.

Rams Keep Wolverine Hopes Alive

South Haven kept its Wolverine title hopes alive Thursday with a 10-4 win over Gull Lake.

Allegan blasted Paw Paw 10-2 in another Wolverine contest.

The Rams, now 10-4 in league play, broke a 4-4 tie with six runs in the seventh inning to take the win. Marty Caparicio slammed a triple and two singles to lead the 13-hit South Haven attack.

Jim Sankolski added two hits and is now batting .420. Jim Kasishke and Vance Fennell also collected two hits apiece.

Jody Haumersen picked up the victory with two innings of no-run, three-hit relief work.

Allegan scored five runs in the third and was never headed against Paw Paw.

Steve Williams had two hits and Randy Ayres and Jon Ghastin two apiece for the Redskins, who fell to 5-8 in Wolverine play.

Decatur Has Slim Lead After Split With Gobles

Gobles threw the torrid SAC baseball race into a three-team dogfight Thursday afternoon.

The Tigers split a twin bill with league-leading Decatur, winning the nightcap 12-4 after dropping the completion of a suspended game 4-3 in 13 innings. While this was going on Bloomingdale turned back Marcellus 8-3 and Lawton nipped Lawrence 7-6.

Decatur is still atop the SAC standings with a 6-1 record, but Bloomingdale (5-1) and Gobles (4-2) are both breathing down its neck. Lawrence (3-3) is fourth, followed by Lawton (2-5), Marcellus (1-5) and Martin (1-5).

The Raiders won the suspended game in quick fashion, needing just one more inning. A double by Dave Gebhardt and a single by Phil Garza put the game in the victory column.

But it was all Gobles in the regular contest. The Tigers raced out to a 10-0 lead in the first three innings and were never in trouble.

Winning pitcher Tim Launis drove in three runs with a double and two singles and Pat Walburn plated two runs with a double and a single for the winners.

Kurt Wiese banged out a pair of doubles for Decatur.

Bloomingdale used its muscle in ripping Marcellus. Gene Allen drove in five runs with two homers and a double to lead the rout. Mike Fritz and Pat Barnes also had round-trippers.

Tom Rigney pitched a five-hitter for the victory as the Cardinals ran their overall record to 10-2.

Lawton raced out to a 7-0 lead in the first four innings and then held off a late Lawrence rally for the win.

Lawrence scored three runs in the sixth inning and three more in the seventh. But Kevin Gray came in to get the final out with the bases loaded in the seventh.

Winning pitcher Art Korteway belted a home run and a double for Lawton.

MSU Gets 7-Footer

EAST LANSING — Michigan State University has signed its first seven-footer.

Sten Feldreich, a 7-0, 215-pound 21-year-old from Bromina, Sweden, has signed a national letter-of-intent to play basketball for the Spartans.

Feldreich is the fifth player to sign with Michigan State and head coach Jud Heathcote has one tender left. It is doubtful that he will use it, however.

"We are hoping that Sten can contribute to varsity play immediately," Heathcote said. "But, we recognize that he may need time to adjust to college basketball."

"We feel he has great potential and could develop into a dominating center for us in the future. For a big man, he has great quickness and jumping ability but needs more experience to develop into a complete player."

Heathcote became aware of Feldreich through international contacts he made while an assistant coach on the United States' 1975 Pan American team.

Despite his age, Feldreich will enroll as a freshman and will have four years of eligibility.

Feldreich was a member of the Swedish team that competed in the pre-Olympic competition at Hamilton, Ont. last summer. The team did not advance to the Olympic finals in Montreal, however.

Feldreich averaged 17 points and 12 rebounds a game for a club team last winter.

Tigers Send Bare Down

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have assigned pitcher Ray Bare to their Triple-A Evansville farm club in the American Association.

Bare was 0-2 in five games, including four starts, with Detroit this season. He had a 12.56 earned-run-average.

Bare ended the season last year with a 7-8 record and a 4.63 ERA. He gave up 157 hits in 134 innings. He has a lifetime record of 18-26.

Lakers Must Win Tonight

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The team that won more games than any club during the 1976-77 National Basketball Association season must win tonight — or be eliminated in an embarrassing four straight games in the playoffs.

The Los Angeles Lakers, winners of 53 regular-season games, trail the Portland Trail Blazers 3-0 in their best-of-seven semifinal series.

A victory tonight would give the upstart Blazers a series sweep and send them into the final series against the winner of the Philadelphia-Houston series.

Thursday, in last-minute preparation for Game Four, Los Angeles Coach Jerry West was lamenting "the little things" that had hurt the Lakers.

Meanwhile, Portland Coach Jack Ramsay was grumbling about his team's poor workout.

"I'm discouraged to be in the position we're in," West said, "but I'd be even more discouraged if we hadn't played up to our capabilities."

"Physically, we maybe played to our maximum abilities more than they played to their maximum," West said. "But that doesn't always win ball games."

"Loose balls, which we haven't gotten our share of, quickness and turnovers," West said, "These are the little things that have gotten us into trouble."

Erratic Crenshaw Tied For Colonial Golf Lead

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — For casually erratic Ben Crenshaw, golf is more than a challenge. It is an adventure. It is golf with a grin and a "gosh what's next?"

When he is good, he is great. When he is bad, he is beautiful — if you can find him.

He does indeed visit unusual and isolated places.

"I finally convinced myself I don't need a driver," said Crenshaw, 25, the surprise co-leader entering today's second round of the $200,000 Colonial National Invitation.

"I went to my three wood. It's a lot easier from the fairway."

He and Al Geiberger, a former Colonial winner, slashed five shots from Colonial's par 70 course and shared a one-stroke lead in the chase for the $40,000 top prize.

"A 65 here is just great for me," said Gentle Ben, who one-putted 11 greens in off-setting, persistently erratic tee shots and other foibles.

On one hole, the sixth, a "God-awful" tee shot took him into the trees, down an adjacent fairway and finally to the green for a remarkable bogey.

At the seventh, he hit a tee shot so bad it turned out good — clearing a hazardous wooded area — and he collected one of his six birdies of the round.

Crenshaw had eagled the 68th hole at the Byron Nelson Classic last week, then bogeyed the final two holes, permitting Ray Floyd to elbow past him for the title.

But Thursday was a remarkable day in every sense,

Golf Event Slated

The 1977 Insurance Youth Golf Classic, sponsored by the Twin Cities Association of Independent Insurance Agents, is scheduled for June 20 at Berrien Hills Country Club in Benton Harbor.

The 18-hole event is open to boys and girls who will not reach their 18th birthday before Aug. 16.

Area winners will advance to the state tourney July 25 at Bay City, with winners there going to the national event Aug. 12-16 at Napa Valley, Calif. Qualifiers for the national will play with professional golfers from the regular PGA tour.

Entry blanks are available from participating insurance agents, high school coaches and at area golf courses. There is an entry fee of $5.

Swift Gains Two Firsts

Bobby Swift, 11, won firsts in fighting and form in the Midwest Karate Championships last Saturday at Rockford Valley College, Rockford, Ill.

Bobby, competing in the pee wee division, lightweight class for 8-11 year olds, won all four of his matches in fighting and was the top point-getter in a field of 14 in form competition.

Jimmy Vivelesrich, 11, took third in fighting and third in form in pee wee division, heavyweight class. Steve Parker was second in fighting in the black belt division over 16. Joe Johnson was third in fighting in the same division.

They were sponsored by the Benton Harbor Area Parks & Recreation Board.

Bats Boom For Bangor

BANGOR — Bangor produced two big eight-run inning to come from behind and register a wild 17-9 win over Delton here Thursday afternoon.

The Vikings, who have won seven in a row, were down 8-1 but scored eight times in the fourth and then eight more times in the sixth.

Bangor pounded 15 hits with Tim Gargus collecting three hits, including two doubles and drove in three runners. Winning pitcher Doug Watkins hit in five

Lafleur Sparks 4-2 Win Over Bruins

Montreal Nearing Another Title

BOSTON (AP) — For all the Boston Bruins' threats, vows of retaliation for past incidents and such, and despite the 12 penalties called in the first period, it was a peaceful game. The only punch thrown was by Montreal's Guy Lafleur, and that was his scoring punch.

The prized Canadiens right wing scored two goals and set up two others Thursday night as Montreal posted a 4-2 triumph and pulled within one victory of its 18th National Hockey League championship.

In left wing John Wensink's promise to "cut his (Lafleur's) head right off," the Boston forward may have made a fatal error. He got the mild-mannered Lafleur just a trifle too annoyed for the Bruins' good. Boston had held Lafleur without a shot on goal in the first two games. Thursday night, he had six.

"It stimulated me a lot," said Lafleur, commenting on Wensink's remark. Lafleur skated around everyone who tried to check him, scored a power play goal with a 15-foot shot at 4:08 of the first period, and set up power play tallies by linemates Steve Shutt and Jacques Lemaire later in the period while the puzzled Bruins still tried to figure out how to beat Canadiens goalie Ken Dryden.

Bruins Coach Don Cherry said, "Guy Lafleur is Guy Lafleur — the greatest hockey player in the world today, bar none."

Lafleur's performance helped get Montreal's power play untracked, "and we couldn't have picked a better time for that," said Shutt. "We weren't working together; everyone was letting the other guy do it all." But after getting just seven power play goals in 46 chances previously, Lafleur guided the Canadiens to three goals in five opportunities in Game Three.

Meanwhile, "they never let us get untracked," said Boston left wing Wayne Cashman. "We can't seem to get the jump on them. They're such a good hockey club. They make it tough to come back. We went out and gave it everything we had."

Montreal took the Bruins' best, and shrugged it off — although four Boston shots bounced off the goalpost. "Tonight we got a three-goal lead, so there was no sense in taking chances," said Canadiens defenseman Guy Lapointe. "From then on, we just played it safe and made sure nobody got caught out of position."

They played it too safe to suit Montreal defenseman Serge Savard. "I didn't like the way we played in the third period. It was too much laying back," he said.

Essentially, it hardly mattered. Shutt sent Lafleur in on a breakaway when the time was right, at 12:52 of the third period, and that was all. Boston had worked hard for Gregg Sheppard's second-period goal, which ended Dryden's shutout streak at 110 minutes, seven seconds, and made it 3-1.

"But you know every shift they're out there, they know what they're going to do," said Bruins center Peter McNab, who converted a rebound with just 1:26 left, making it 4-2. "And they don't make mistakes."

So the Canadiens now hold a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven series, and could win it all Saturday night in Game Four.

Victory Silences Rocket Critics

HOUSTON (AP) — It was George McGinnis' turn to take some ribbing over the way his Philadelphia 76ers had played against Houston and the star forward took it well. There was little else he could do.

The scene was an almost deserted 76ers' dressing room following Houston's 118-94 victory in the third game of their National Basketball Association playoff series.

"Where's that gorilla?" asked a Houston fan, who had found his way into the dressing room. "No gorillas around here," McGinnis replied.

"I just wanted to see that Darryl Dawkins, who calls his dunk shot a 'gorilla dunk,'" the fan needed. "We'll keep Mo (Moses) Malone and you all can keep the gorilla."

"I'd better not comment on that," McGinnis said smiling. "But we will keep him."

The Rockets, who had been ridiculed as too ponderous and slow to compete with the streamlined 76ers, definitely took their revenge against the surprised 76ers in Wednesday night's game and silenced some of their critics.

Asked about the Rockets being compared to water buffalo and only being able to beat the 76ers if the game were played in tall grass, McGinnis said, again smiling, "Well, I guess they changed all that, didn't they?"

"I don't think we ever did take the Rockets too lightly, that was just mostly newspaper talk. This is the Eastern Conference finals and you don't get that far without having something."

The fourth game of the best-of-seven series will be played tonight, and although there won't be any tall grass on the Summit court, the Rockets' chances for tying the series 2-2 are much improved.

Although the Rockets have claimed they have paid little attention to the disparaging remarks, it was clear that Wednesday night's decisive victory eased their frustration.

"Some people must think we are a bunch of bums," Rockets Coach Tom Nissalke said. "We won only one less game during the regular season than Philadelphia but we lose one game to them up there and all of a sudden we're water buffaloes. Hey, we're a heckuva team."

Houston rookie John Lucas, who quarterbacked the Rockets through the regular season but had been ineffective in the playoffs, also gained the personal satisfaction of keeping tight control on the flow of Game Three. He scored 20 points and handed out nine as-

Whirlpool's Old Timers Feted In Three 'Shifts'

By LARRY MacINTYRE
Staff Writer

Frederick S. Upton, highest in seniority of Whirlpool Old Timers, greeted about 750 guests last night at the first of a series of three dinners marking the 32nd annual Old Timers banquet.

The banquet at Shadowland ballroom, St. Joseph, is extended over three successive evenings because Old Timer club membership has grown too large to accommodate everyone at once. There are 1,600 members this year.

Upton, retired senior vice president of Whirlpool, said last night he has been at the Old Timers banquet every year since they began. Upton joined the company shortly after it was founded in 1911 by his brother, the late Louis C. Upton.

In brief remarks, Upton said: "The Old Timers is a great organization, and it becomes greater year by year. Among other things I can think of, it brings us closer together.

"And communications these days are so important for everyone of us — and these annual meetings have a great deal to do with our closeness."

Upton concluded: "I just want to say I wish you all well during the next 12 months and may we be together a year from now."

The Old Timers club is made up of active and retired Whirlpool employees with 20 or more years service.

Lloyd A. Wampach, vice president for Whirlpool's laundry group, will be the speaker at tonight's dinner and Elsha (Bud) Gray, retired board chairman, will speak tomorrow night.

In addition to a prime rib dinner, the Old Timers are being treated to a floor show featuring the Four Lads singing group along with Chicago comedian Dink Freeman and singer Cathy Johnson.

Chairman for this year's banquet committee is Walter Waldenmaier. Co-chairman is Jerry Hanes. Jack Ward is master of ceremonies.

Allegan Teen Dies In Crash

HAMILTON — Calvin Lee Schreuer, 14, Hamilton, was killed and eight other people were injured yesterday in a two-car, head-on collision northeast of here, Allegan county sheriff's deputies said.

The teenager was pronounced dead at the scene of the 1 p.m.

10 Auto Deaths In Allegan County In 1977

crash by Dr. William Schock, Saugatuck, deputy Allegan medical examiner. Deputies said the crash occurred on 96th street at the intersection of 144th avenue in Overhulsel township.

Deputies said Calvin was a passenger in a car driven by his brother, Arlyn J. Schreuer, 16. Arlyn was reported in critical condition today at the Zeeland Community hospital. Other passengers in Arlyn's car were Blaine Zoerhoff, 15, who was reported in serious condition,

Cleared Of Charge, He Faces 3 More

Dallas M. Taylor was acquitted yesterday in Berrien Circuit court of a charge of breaking and entering a Royalton township residence March 7. Taylor, 30, of Benton Heights, remained lodged in the county jail to face other charges, including an escape from the county jail April 23, allegedly assaulting a jail guard in another incident, and a charge of larceny over $100.

Jurors in Judge Julian E. Hughes' court deliberated about two hours at the conclusion of a one-day trial before acquitting Taylor. He was charged with breaking into the residence of Cathleen Wickam, at 393 East John Beers road, on March 7. Taylor during the trial claimed he was not there when the break-in occurred and did not commit the offense. Opposing counsel were St. Joseph Atty. Paul Jancha and Assistant Prosecutor Patrick Murphy.

Coloma Rules On Class Cuts

COLOMA — The Coloma school board last night agreed to retain advanced German and French classes and two-hour blocks of business courses for the 1977-78 school curriculum.

The board's decision was made known following a 62-minute recess during a special board meeting held in the Coloma junior high school and attended by over 55 people.

The board, however, re-established its policy whereby if class enrollment drops below 18 students in one year, the course will not be considered for scheduling the following school year.

The only exceptions to the minimum student enrollment, in addition to the German, French and business courses, will be classes funded by either federal or state programs which may set a lower minimum student enrollment.

School administrators had sought the board's decision on what courses should be eliminated, based on low enrollment figures, and included the two advanced language course and business course block.

According to figures released, the advanced German class has six students, while the advanced French class has an enrollment of nine students. The business courses have nine and 14 students this year. One is for secretarial office training and the other for clerical-office work.

The remaining courses to be eliminated next year have enrollment figures ranging from seven to 12 students.

According to William Barrett, school superintendent, the 18 minimum student enrollment has been used as the guideline for determining if the course will be offered for the past year.

Marshall Badt, school board president, in announcing the decision said the board will be holding more meetings with the administration and teachers on the curriculum question in the future.

A Coloma high school student, Anne Bethe, addressed the Coloma school board last night requesting the board keep academics up at Coloma.

She told the board that altering the curriculum toward vocational students would be "catering to the kids who don't care about school" and add to the school problems of "giving the non-productive student an easier choice of taking easier courses."

Another student, Kathleen Sipes, said both academic and vocational courses are needed, as they both serve a need in society.

Two Receptions Scheduled

ALLEGAN — Big Brothers and Big Sisters organization of Allegan county will hold two receptions, one in Allegan and the other in Fennville, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 17, and Wednesday, May 18, respectively, for parents and program volunteers. Terry Gibney, director, will discuss the program and what has been happening during the first month of operations of the new agency. A film dramatizing a big sister-little sister friendship will be shown. In Allegan, the reception will be held at 108 Chestnut street in the Cooperative Extension Service meeting room. In Fennville, the meeting will be held in the high school student lounge.

No Wonder Taxes High!

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal, state and local governments will spend almost $10,000 per household this year, more than three times what they spent in 1960, a new report says.

The Tax Foundation Inc., a nonprofit research group, said Thursday that total estimated government spending at all levels for fiscal 1977 is $715.7 billion, which works out to $9,607 for each of the nation's 74½ million households. In 1960, governments spent $151.3 billion, or $2,865 for each household. The increase in spending per household — 235 per cent from 1960 to 1977 — is greater than the boost in the Consumer Price Index that went up just over 100 per cent in the period from 1960 through March of this year.

Comparing 1977 with 1950, the Tax Foundation said that spending per household will be almost six times greater this year than it was 27 years ago. The 1976 to 1977 increase is about 11 per cent. (Note: the percentage increase in total spending is greater than the percentage increase in spending per household because the number of households has increased.)

The federal government is by far the biggest spender. At most two-thirds of the total is spent by the federal government, with state and local governments accounting for the rest. The proportion has remained about the same since 1950.

The Tax Foundation released the statistics in connection with publication of the 1977 edition of "Facts and Figures on Government Finance." The books are published every two years. The group did not provide a detailed breakdown of where the money goes. But a foundation research expert provided some clues based on Commerce Department figures for fiscal 1975.

As expected, the biggest chunk of money is for social expenditures — welfare, Social Security and unemployment compensation.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Inches Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market opened a shade higher today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 43 to 925.97 in the early going. Gainers were running slightly ahead of losers among issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Meanwhile, Citibank, the nation's second largest bank, announced an increase from 6 1/4 to 6 1/2 per cent in its prime rate as the stock market opened.

The prime rate has been unchanged since January.

Analysts said that announcement might have the affect of weighing down the market since increases in the basic lending rate make business expansion more expensive.

The Federal Reserve Board's announcement of the nation's weekly money supply, issued after the close of the NYSE on Thursday, however, had provided some favorable news to traders in a money-sensitive market, analysts noted.

Early prices included Ethyl Corp., off 1/4 at 42 1/4; Bally, off 3/4 at 20 1/2; and Eastman Kodak, down 1/4 at 57 1/2.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average, down more than five points during the day, closed off 1.38 at 925.54.

Losers outnumbered gainers by only a small fraction among issues listed on the NYSE.

Big Board volume reached 21.98 million shares, up from 18.58 million on the previous day.

The NYSE's composite index lost .02 to 53.96.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .35 at 113.69.

A young Benton Harbor woman was arrested Thursday and charged with assault with a dangerous weapon (a nail file) after a K-mart guard was attacked inside the store on Riverview drive, city police reported.

Paiges Cummings, 17, 760 Columbus avenue, is accused of attacking K-mart guard James Blanchard with a nail file in store security offices, police said.

Blanchard, 47, 1250 Pavone, Benton Harbor, was scratched on the left hand but did not require treatment after the 4 p.m. incident, police said.

Benton Harbor police reported the theft of tools valued at $70 from the cab of a pickup truck owned by George Hedrick, 2808 Sunnydale, St. Joseph, while the truck was parked at Pipestone street and Britain avenue.

St. Joseph township police said wheels and tires worth $520 were stolen from a car parked in a used car lot at 2081 Washington avenue. The theft was reported by Terry Kriel, an employee at Rudy's Auto Sales.

$240,827 Budget For Three Oaks

THREE OAKS — A $240,827 budget for the 1977-78 fiscal year was approved by the Three Oaks village council last night following a public hearing.

The new budget is some $7,965 more than the current year's figure, but will not require an increase in the village's current 14-mill property tax levy.

Major expenditures in the new budget, with the current year's figure in parentheses are: Administrative, $58,081 ($31,900); police, $54,320 ($49,275); fire, $22,575 ($21,350); parks and recreation, $6,700 ($5,000); streets, $86,611 ($124,794).

The board approved a preliminary facilities plan by Wightman and Associates, St. Joseph engineers, for repairs to the existing waste water collection system in the village and construction of a third sewer lagoon.

A federal grant is being sought for the project which has been estimated to cost $157,000 for the repairs and $393,000 for new construction. The total share to be paid by village residents is estimated at $105,800. The council also approved allowing the Berrien county Board of Public Works to provide administrative services in connection with the plan.

A work policy for the village street department submitted by Councilman Chester Decker was accepted by the council. The policy includes a pay hike of 50 cents per hour for street department workers with half the amount going toward an employee pension plan. The council also approved hiring Glenn Gore as a fulltime street department employee at $4.25 per hour.

The fire department was given permission to purchase an airpax for $460 and the police department to buy a mobile radar unit for $1,484. Mrs. Ruth Ann Zabel was also hired part-time at $3.85 per hour to assist the police department in filing complaints and reports.

An expenditure of $400 was also approved for new lighting at Legion Memorial ballpark.

Berrien Real Estate was granted permission to remodel the former service station at the corner of US-12 and South Elm street into an office for the real estate firm.

Repay $299,066 Gov. Shapp Told

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp has been ordered to pay back nearly $300,000 raised for a presidential campaign that fizzled out after two primaries.

He thus becomes the first presidential candidate ordered to return federal matching funds under the country's new election code enacted to correct abuses connected with the Watergate scandals.

Gregory Harvey, attorney for the Shapp campaign committee, said Thursday that the governor will fight the order.

The Federal Election Commission decided in a 5-0 vote Thursday that Shapp is personally responsible for returning $299,066 because of illegal fund raising activities.

The money represented the federal government's matching grant for campaign contributions raised by Shapp.

To qualify for the grants, federal laws require that a candidate must raise at least $50,000 from each of 20 states in individual gifts of no more than $250.

The FEC said several persons had been listed as contributors to Shapp's brief quest for the Democratic nomination, but had actually been given the money by others.

FEC officials said all 15 presidential candidates receiving matching funds were audited. The Shapp campaign committee was the only one linked to irregularities, they said.

The FEC said it reached agreements with 22 persons in the case. Eighteen of them agreed to pay fines ranging from $25 to $750, and others agreed to testify.

The states where irregularities were found were Alabama, Georgia, Nevada, North Carolina and Texas.

FEC spokesman Tift named seven persons in Alabama and said "each signed letters that they made $100 contributions to the Shapp for President Committee. None of these persons provided personal funds for the committee," she said.

BACKERS HAVE CONTROL. WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration supporters appear to have control in the Senate Rules Committee as the panel works on a measure for election-day registration of voters.

School Millage On Ballot

summer maintenance program at an estimated cost in labor and materials of $33,102. The program includes moving four portable classrooms from Sylvester elementary to the middle school to accommodate hearing impaired students who are being promoted from the elementary to the middle school, replacing the public address system in the high school, resurfacing the circle drive at the high school, interior and exterior painting, resealing roofs, and lawn care.

Summer programs were announced as follows: hearing impaired, June 13 to July 29; learning disability, June 6 to July 21; migrant education, June 13 to Aug. 5; instrumental music, fifth through 12th grades and Truity Lutheran school, June 6 to July 1; and driver's education for Berrien Springs high school, Andrews University academy and the Berrien County juvenile center, June 6 throughout the summer.

The dates for the June meetings of the school board were changed to June 9 for the informational meeting, and June 16 for the regular board meeting.

Covert
Ballots
Not Ready

COVERT — Absentee ballots for the June 13 school annual election here will not be available until sometime after next Thursday, May 19, Covert Supt. William Randall said yesterday.

It is then, he said, that the board will know who the candidates are for the school board seat now held by Donald Quinn.

Deadline for people to file petitions as candidates for the seat is Monday, and candidates who file have three days, until Thursday, to withdraw their names if they wish.

The absentee ballots will be printed and become available sometime after that, he said.

The Covert school board last year charged that absentee ballots were being misused and voted to become a non-registration school district.

The move had the effect of doing away with absentee ballots.

But an injunction sought and granted in Van Buren circuit court produced a court order to continue use of absentee ballots.

New Buffalo Budget Is $804,767

NEW BUFFALO — A tentative budget of $804,767 for 1977-78, up $36,769 from last year's budget of $767,998, was presented at a public hearing of the New Buffalo city council last night. No citizens attended the hearing.

The budget is based on the same 19-mill property tax rate as last year with an estimated increase in the city's state equalized valuation of $1,799,113. Last year's SEV was $12,154,000, this year estimates project an SEV of $13,953,113.

Local property taxes are expected to raise a total of $265,109 with sewer and water departments to bring in an estimated $221,000. State shared revenues and federal revenue sharing is expected to add another estimated $125,550 in revenues.

The council will take action on the proposed budget at its meeting Tuesday.

Arrest Man

CASSOPOLIS — Cass county sheriff's deputies yesterday arrested Willie Winters, 19, of 306 South street, here, on a warrant from Louisiana charging armed robbery.

Winters was lodged in the Cass county jail. The sheriff's department said it had no details on when or where the robbery occurred. He was to be arraigned today in Cass Fourth District court.

New Buffalo Girl's Speech Is Winner

NEW BUFFALO — Sheila Holmes, a New Buffalo junior high school student, was the first place winner in the Berrien County Junior High School Declamation contest held last night in the New Buffalo high school theater arts room.

Miss Holmes' speech was entitled, "Let There Be Peace," by James Street.

Lynn Hack, Andrews Junior academy, Berrien Springs, was the second place winner while Jeff Buckner, Lakeshore Junior High school, placed third.

New Buffalo Twp. Prepares To Sue

NEW BUFFALO — The New Buffalo township board last night voted to go ahead with condemnation proceedings if it cannot get easement rights for sewer line construction along Raz road.

Township Supervisor Edward Ohime said 13 property owners have rejected settlement offers for easements along about 1,250 feet of the road.

The easements are necessary before construction can begin in the area on the Galien river sanitary sewer project involving sewer collection lines and treatment plants to serve the city and township of New Buffalo and Chikaming township.

In other action, the board tabled until June 9 three bids for a brush fire truck. Board members said they want to review the bids with the fire commissioner and two fire chiefs.

In a related area, the board accepted the resignation of Ronald Burian as fire chief of Station 2. Burian told the board he was resigning for personal reasons.

On Burian's recommendation, the board approved the appointment of Robert Cook as acting chief and Herbert Ferguson as acting assistant chief until there is an election of officers in the fire department.

A petition from five residents on Fourth lane, Union Pier, requesting permission to hook up to Chikaming township water system because of rusty well water was referred by the board to the Chikaming township water board.

The board also voted to advertise for bids to blacktop the township hall parking lot; to ask the Berrien county road commission to chloride Kliver, Lakeside and Shedd roads in front of and 500 feet on each side of homes in the area; and to table action on a new stop light at the intersection of Townline road and Red Arrow highway until Chikaming township takes action on sharing the costs.

Elderly, Crippled May Get Tax Break

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to increase property tax relief for senior citizens and handicapped persons has been introduced in the state House.

Rep. Dannie Cawthorne, RMuskegon, said his bill would make up for the effects of inflation since 1973 by increasing by $1,000 the income and property value levels which determine who is qualified under the Homestead Property Tax Relief Act.

Cost-of-living increases in wages, Social Security and pension benefits have disqualified some recipients for the benefits, even if their needs have stayed the same or increased, Cawthorne said.

He estimated the cost to the state's general fund to provide additional tax relief under the act at less than $10 million.

Under the law, refunds of part or all of the property taxes paid are given senior citizens and handicapped persons if the tax exceeds a percentage of their income.

Accused Shotgun-Pointer Bound Over In Berrien

By LARRY MACINTYRE Staff Writer

John F. Landers of Benton township was bound over to Berrien circuit court yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to murder Berrien Sheriff's Det. George Vollrath.

Landers, 50, of 174 Dewey avenue, was ordered bound over by Judge John T. Hammond after a preliminary examination in Berrien Fifth District court. Landers was returned to jail in lieu of $30,000 bond.

Landers is accused of pointing a loaded 20-gauge shotgun at Vollrath May 2. The gun was not fired and Vollrath was not injured.

Vollrath testified yesterday that he heard a "click" when the gun was pointed at him, according to Asst. Prosecutor Thomas Gezon.

A shotgun shell was introduced into evidence that had a dent in its primer which appeared to have been made by a firing pin, Gezon said. The shell was taken from Landers' shotgun, Gezon said.

The assault allegedly took place on Dewey avenue near Landers' residence. Vollrath said he was answering a complaint that a man was standing outside with a shotgun.

In other court action, two people demanded preliminary examinations and 17 were sentenced.

Demanding preliminary hearings were:

Gary L. Flakes, 19, of 1007 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, on a charge of breaking and entering an office in the Buss avenue housing project early Thursday morning. He was jailed after failing to post $2,500 bond.

Kitty S. Reid, 28, of 1946 East Britain avenue, Benton township, on a charge of cashing an insufficient fund check for $81.40 at the Belco store, Benton township, on Oct. 21.

Sentenced were:

William N. Scott, 24, of 7100 Nagar Shore road, Coloma, 15 days jail, 18 months probation and $300 fine and costs or 90 days jail for attempted possession of marijuana in Lincoln township Feb. 13.

Johanne L. Bradford, 20, 6023 Erie street, Coloma, $122 for shoplifting a jar of Brooma Seltzer from the IGA store, Hagar township, on Feb. 17.

Mitchell R. Lantz, 17, and Frank K. Neville, 18, both of Clark Lake, Mich., $25 each for use of marijuana in New Buffalo township April 9.

Thomas Williams, 47, of 218 South Fair avenue, Benton Harbor, $90 for impaired driving, second offense, in Bridgman March 4.

Matias Esquivel, 30, of Lubbock, Texas, $50 for reckless use of firearms (a pistol) in Benton Harbor May 11, reduced from carrying a concealed weapon.

Rosie M. Jordan, 25, and Elise White, 25, both of South Bend, each seven days jail and $50 for shoplifting a pair of shoes at Bargain Center, Benton township, on April 9.

Blair B. Hartnett, 25, of Poria Heights, Ill., $50 or 10 days for possession of an unregistered gun (a .22-caliber pistol) on I-94 in St. Joseph township Thursday, reduced from carrying a concealed weapon.

Richard C. Spiller, 42, of 2527 Lake View avenue, St. Joseph, $3 for fishing without a license in Lake Michigan April 18.

Patrick H. McNally, 21, of Gables, six months and $1,000 or one year for probation violations — never reporting to his probation officer and never paying $1,000 fine and costs assessed against him for a March 11, 1976, conviction of larceny in a building.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Driving under the influence of intoxicants — William P. Wilson, 34, of LaPorte, Ind., $32 or 30 days; Mark S. Gould, 18, of 1348 East Napier avenue, Benton township, and Terry L. Dunlap, 30, of Michigan City, Ind., each $132.

Driving with a suspended license: James W. Jones 41, of Box 30 Hochberger road, Eau Claire, five days and $100.

Charles G. Rogers, 27, of route 1, Berrien Center, and Dean R. Rueske, 18, of 3016 Lincoln avenue, St. Joseph township, each three days and $82.

ONLY ONE: Belmont county, Ohio, Sheriff Kathy Crumley says she's doing just fine after five months on the job. She's the only elected woman sheriff in the country, and one of the busiest. (AP Wirephoto)

PROPOSED FLOOD ELEVATION DETERMINATIONS FOR THE TOWNSHIP OF LINCOLN, MICHIGAN

AGENCY: Federal Insurance Administration ACTION: Proposed Rule CONCERN:

The Federal Insurance Administration hereby gives notice of the proposed determinations of base flood elevations (100-year flood) for the Township of Lincoln, Michigan, in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P.L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added Section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (79 Stat. 1311) and the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-448), 42 U.S.C. 4002-4128, and 24 CFR Part 1917.

Any person having knowledge, information, or wishing to make a comment on these determinations should immediately notify Bernice Trethewey, Lincoln Township Hall, P. O. Drawer 1, Stevensville, Michigan 49127.

DATE:

The period for comment will be ninety days following the second publication of this notice in a newspaper of local circulation in the above-named community.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Richard Trimm, Assistant Administrator
Office of Flood Insurance
(202) 355-5581 or Toll Free Line (800) 424-6872
Room 5270
451 Seventh Street, Southwest
Washington, D. C. 20410

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

These base flood elevations are the basis for the flood plain management measures that the community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

These elevations together with the flood plain management measures required by Section 1303 of the program regulations are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their flood plain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, state or regional entities. These proposed elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

Proposed base flood elevations (100-year flood) are listed below for selected locations. Maps and other information showing the details outlines of the flood-prone areas and the proposed base flood elevations are available for review at Lincoln Township Hall, Stevensville, Michigan 49127.

The proposed 100-year flood elevations for selected locations are:

Accused Bail Jumper's Bond Set At $105,000

By DENNIS COGSWELL Staff Writer

PAW PAW — A Hartford man was ordered held on bond totaling $105,000 Thursday following Seventh district court arraignment on two counts of absconding on bond and one count of assault with intent to commit murder.

Roosevelt Sutton, 24, also known as Daddio Williams, demanded preliminary examination on the charges and was remanded to jail pending a May 24 hearing.

Sutton, who is also facing circuit court trial on two other charges and sentencing on a third, surrendered to a representative of his bonding company Wednesday in Chicago, according to Van Buren sheriff's deputies.

The assault charge, according to Hartford police, stems from a May 1, 1976 altercation during which a man allegedly fired several shots at a car in which Sutton's wife, Shelly Rea Sutton, 23, was sitting. Police said no one was injured during the incident, which occurred at the Sutton home at 501 East Linden, Hartford. Bond was set at $75,000.

One of the absconding charges alleges Sutton absconded on a $2,500 bond furnished while he was awaiting sentencing last December on a charge of delivery of marijuana. Sutton had been convicted of the drug charge by a circuit court jury in October. Bond was set at $15,000.

The other absconding charge alleges he absconded on a $55,000 bond furnished while he was awaiting trial on a charge of armed robbery. That charge grew out of an August, 1976 holdup of a Bangor gas station. Bond was set at $15,000.

Authorities said Sutton also faces trial on a charge of manslaughter growing out of the May 10, 1976 shooting death of his half-sister, Lady Day Hughes, 11, Bangor, at the Sutton home in Hartford.

Judge Meyer Warshawsky said that because Sutton had been returned for proceedings bonding companies that put up the original bonds could have the bonds refunded but could face an assessment for the extra paperwork. He had ordered the bonds forfeited when Sutton failed to appear as scheduled.

In other cases, Ronald D. Cole, 18, Mattawan, was ordered held on $10,000 bond after demanding preliminary examination on a charge of obstructing police.

State police at Paw Paw said Cole was arrested Wednesday after he allegedly interfered with the arrest of a woman in front of the county courthouse. Troopers said at the time he was being led to jail from circuit court, where he was on trial on two counts of assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

Judge Meyer Warshawsky yesterday declared a mistrial because several of the jurors had witnessed the altercation in front of the courthouse.

Police said that as a result of the fracas, warrants have also been issued against Debbie DeGlopper, 17, Kalamazoo, charging her with creating a disturbance and obstructing police.

Robert L. Sullivan, 17, and David C. Najacht, 17, both of 84th avenue, Hartford, were released on their own recognizance after demanding preliminary examination on charges of breaking and entering.

The two were arrested following the reported theft of a chain saw and cash register early Thursday morning from Leach's Garage, Lawrence, according to Lawrence police.

Capp Homes Finish-It-Yourself House: Proof that housing is still affordable.

Two-Storey and Splits from $19,040 to $58,900. THE CENTENNIAL

Finish-It-Yourself means just that. By doing the finishing work yourself, you can save thousands compared to the cost of having a contractor build the same house on your lot.

CAPP CUSTOM QUALITY
Choose the home design you want, then customize it to fit your needs. For over 30 years, Capp has maintained an old-fashioned dedication to quality building specifications and materials.

WHAT WE DO
Capp custom-builds your home on your foundation. We install sub-flooring, interior partitions and exterior doors and windows, so you'll start off with a home that's completely enclosed and ready to finish.

WHAT YOU DO
You complete it yourself with all the finishing materials Capp provides. Things like plumbing and wiring aren't all that tough with the help of Capp instruction manuals. Finish it yourself, have your friends help — or hire tradesmen. The more you do, the more you save. And when you're finished, you have a home worth a lot more than you paid for it.

PCB Research Centers On Saginaw Bay Larvae

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Midge larvae and the industrial chemical PCB have something in common. They're both found in Saginaw Bay.

What does that mean if fish eat the tiny insects? What about people who may eat the fish?

Scientists at the Great Lakes Research Division of the University of Michigan are trying to find out if PCB, or polychlorinated biphenyl, accumulates in the midge larvae and worms in the sediment on the bottom of the bay.

And if they do, scientists may investigate whether the chemical is passed on to fish, birds and further into the food chain.

Dr. John Robbins has been studying heavy metal and organic pollutants, including PCB, in Lake Huron and Saginaw Bay. Midges, which are sometimes seen flying around lightbulbs in the summer, begin their lifecycle in the water as larvae, and Saginaw Bay is one place they are found.

The high concentrations of PCB and heavy metal in Saginaw Bay are not a problem right now. But Robbins and his team are trying to learn if they may be passed along the food chain.

"We may find that they don't wind up in our food, or are in any way harmful to the environment. But certainly this is something that must be looked into." In a speech Thursday, Robbins described the process for his research.

"We began by tracing sediments, especially lead, in the bay and lake sediments," he said. "The idea was to reconstruct the history of pollution in these areas so that ultimately we would learn how PCBs and other materials in the sediments degrade — where they go from there."

"This is a step toward determining whether they work their way into our food chain, or otherwise endanger us."

Robbins and graduate student Gary Burin have been working with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to find the way of transport, rate of accumulation and effects of heavy metals and organic pollutants in the lake and bay.

Robbins said he has been taking sediment core samples and dating them, as well as measuring concentrations of potentially toxic metals such as copper, cadmium and lead.

The team then identified "hot spots," areas with heavy metal
